Nation's Truckers Set For Midnight Lockout

Firms Hit Back At Strikers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trucking industry negotiators announced today a nationwide shutdown of 1,500 major firms will begin at midnight tonight in retaliation for continuing Teamsters strikes.

M. M. Gordon, president of Trucking Employers, Inc., announced the lockout action would affect some 250,000 of the 450,000 Teamster Union members involved in national contract negotiations with the industry.

The scheduled shutdown would affect the nation's biggest firms that carry about 65 per cent of all truck freight, and trigger the worst trucking shutdown in the nation's history.

INJUNCTION HINT

Gordon said he had no indication from federal officials on whether an 80-day Taft-Hartley injunction might be issued to halt the strikes and lockout.

Gordon said industry negotiators will continue negotiating with the Teamsters at the request of the chief federal mediator, William E. Simkin.

Gordon said at least a dozen strikes are still underway in Atlanta, Ga.; Chattanooga, Tenn.; Winston-Salem, N. C.; Birmingham, Ala.; Denver, Colo., and Chicago.

He said these were among 38 hit-and-run Teamsters strikes that have occurred since the old national contract expired eight days ago.

RAIL TROUBLES

Meanwhile, Undersecretary of Labor James J. Reynolds wrestled with a scheduled six-union strike against 138 railroads next Wednesday.

Unless averted, the two wage

Uneasy Truce In Near East Border Feud

JERUSALEM (AP) — Israel and Syria charged each other with aggression after fighting the sharpest Middle East air battle since the Arab-Israeli war of 1948 Friday in a dispute over border farmland.

Israel took its charges to the United Nations, but did not ask for specific action by the Security Council.

Israel claimed it shot down six Syrian MIG-21s in three dogfights. It said no Israeli Mirage fighters were lost, but one man was killed and one wounded in ground fighting with tanks and artillery.

Syria claimed it downed five Israeli planes and killed at least 70 Israelis, and acknowledged losing four of its own planes. It reported five dead and an unspecified number injured.

Syria did not reply immediately to Israel's aggression charge but when a halt was reported in the firing, Damascus radio said Syrian forces had "put down an Israeli aggression."

Verbal backing for Syria came quickly from its Arab neighbors, Jordan, Lebanon and Iraq. The Iraqis said they were prepared "to extend the fullest support to Syria against the Israeli aggression."

But, despite a Unified Arab Military Command designed to combat Israel, none sent military aid. Syria said the battle broke out when an Israeli tractor crossed into the demilitar-

Alice's Fling Over, She's Home Again

By ALICE PARSONS
As Told To John F. Kearney

Well, I'm home again, says Alice, and it's nice to have the familiar things around a girl again. Like black codfish for breakfast and the looks on the faces of the people I know.

All of this fuss over a little trip into San Rafael Canal from my usual home in the Louise M. Boyd Museum. All the same, a girl—even if she is a sea lion — can't help being flattered . . . a bit.

I had all those wildlife experts chasing me for more than a day. Then it was left to the good ol' U.S. Navy to pull it off.

They brought a net from the depot in Tiburon to snag me, but what lady doesn't mind being caught by the boys in blue?

I was given fish with tranquilizers which were just the ticket to soothe the nerves after a long day's swim.

All I remember is waking up today with a tremendous appetite for black cod.

I heard my boss, Museum Director Clara Evans, tell an Independent - Journal reporter I was happy to be back.

"She could have swum to the open sea at any time but she didn't. It was as if she wanted to be back with her friends again," she said.

And she is right, you know. Swimming free and dunking my pursuers in the canal gets a little tedious, even when they are from the U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service.

Now I've seen everything—the Greyhound Bus Depot and the San Rafael Canal. It's the fresh faces of the visiting kids you really miss.

$37.7 Million Coast Sewer Plan Offered

Plans for a $37,786,000 sewer system to serve Stinson Beach and Bolinas, with a treatment plant north of the county's Agate Beach Park, were presented to directors of the Bolinas and Bolinas Beach public utilities districts and Stinson Beach County Water District in Stinson Beach today.

The plan, presented in three development phases costing $14,414,000 for the first, $1,598,000 for the second and $774,000 for the third, was prepared by Brown and Caldwell, consulting engineers of San Francisco, as part of a $81,000 study for county-wide sewer development.

The recommendations for Bolinas and Stinson Beach were asked as an interim study, to be issued now rather than with

San Rafael Elections To Settle Big Issues

San Rafael voters will go to the polls Monday to elect two city councilmen, a police chief and three members of the board of education and to pass judgment on 13 revisions of the city charter.

Polling places will be open from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. for the 21,350 eligible voters in the city and the San Rafael Elementary and High School Districts.

Ballots will be tabulated by computer at the Civic Center, but returns will be posted on a bulletin board in the council chambers at San Rafael city hall as they are received after the polls close.

There will also be three telephone lines open to the city clerk's office for those who wish to phone for results.

A special section of the Independent-Journal's "Marin Magazine" today is devoted to the candidates, their stands on the issues, their backgrounds, and the 13 charter amendents.

Radio station KTIM will broadcast returns directly from Civic Center, with first returns expected by 9 p.m. KTIM will remain on the air until the elections are decided.

There are six candidates competing for two council seats, including incumbent Fred E. Jensen. The others are George S. Burton, Orlando Conti, Joseph D. Dahlman, John A. Miskimen, and Gene F. O'Connor.

Running for police chief are incumbent Chief Charles J. Chiesa and former Police Lt. Nick Giampoli. A write-in candidate is Police Sgt. Carl Selby.

There are four candidates for the three vacancies on the San Rafael Board of Education: John C. Pfeiffer plus incumbents Carl J. Brown, Herman L. Childress and Mrs. Anita Strom.

Four city officials are running unopposed: Mayor Paul C. Bettini, City Atty. David Menary Jr., City Clerk W. C. Cornwell, and Treasurer Angelina J. Soldavini.

The 13 propositions which would bring the city's 54-year-old charter up to date are described in the special magazine section. They are recommendations of a special committee which made a lengthy study of the charter.

The recommended revisions would, among other things, clarify the responsibilities of the city manager, eliminate outdated provisions, reform election date scheduling and make appointive the presently elective offices of police chief, city attorney, clerk, and treasurer.

Homes For Elderly Atop Supermarkets?

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — A federal public housing official has suggested that residence areas for the elderly be built in the unused space on top of sprawling supermarkets.

Mrs. Marie C. McGuire, deputy assistant secretary of the Housing and Urban Development Department, said Friday that she got the idea from looking at "all the wasted space" over shopping centers.

Clouds Slap Marin With Hailstones

Hail — so heavy at times it blocked visibility—pelted northern and hilly sections of Marin yesterday, causing at least one traffic accident.

In Ignacio, a 75-year-old Clearlake Highlands woman was injured when a car driven by her husband skidded and rammed a divider fence on Highway 101.

Eldon Olson, 70, said heavy hail reduced visibility to near zero, causing him to lose control. His wife, Lilly, was treated at Marin General Hospital for face bruises.

The low pressure center which brought the hail and occasional rain to Marin moved eastward today bringing a forecast for fair skies today and early tomorrow.

But the weather bureau warned of increasing cloudiness over

Bruce Asks Supervisors To Kill Family Rehabilitation Center

By RICK LYTTLE

The Family Rehabilitation Center, a Marin experiment in the care of wayward youth, must go, County Administrator Alan Bruce has declared.

In a report that supervisors will consider Tuesday, Bruce declared that an average of $1,208 per month per resident is being spent at the center on Lucas Valley road, and figuring on the average stay as 18 months, this comes to $21,000 per young resident.

Another heavy count Bruce held against the center was that many come from affluent families, but only 3 per cent of the costs have been covered by payment from the families, even though the payments would be considered as medical deductions on income tax returns.

Bruce found that 39 per cent of families had incomes ranging from $917 to $2,329 a month.

Other counts that Bruce levied as a result of an investigation begun last fall included the fact that the center, opened in January, 1966, is still operating with just 20 residents even though the buildings were designed for 30.

He also found that the county probation department has not yet developed a method of evaluating results.

Bruce and his staff did some evaluation of their own and found that of 16 discharged from the expensive treatment, only four had no further run-ins with the law. Three commited crimes of less serious nature than what they were originally committed for, three committed the same type of crime after discharge, three committed more serious crimes and three were sent to other institutions.

Bruce thus lists nine of the 16 discharged, or 56.25 per cent, as total failures.

The county administrator includes in his report a statement of operating philosophy from the center's medical director, Dr. Phillip Hicks, and declared that "surprisingly, such a statement had not been reduced to writing before last weekend and was not available during the course of the survey."

Bruce also found that the crowded juvenile hall next door contributes to delinquency by mixing advanced delinquents with those placed there for the first time, often for reasons other than a criminal offense.

His recommendations include closing intake at the Family Re-

Kenny's Kidnaper Described

BEVERLY HILLS (UPI)—A man in his middle 20s, with dark wavy hair and an olive complexion, was the object of a nationwide search today as the suspected kidnaper of 11-year-old Kenneth Young.

The search by 300 FBI agents and hundreds of policemen focused on the suspect whose description was supplied by Kenneth's father, Herbert J. Young, 35, the wealthy president of Gibralter Savings and Loan Association.

An all-points bulletin was issued for the two-door sedan, a white 1965 Chevrolet, with the California license number NBD-770. However, authorities indicated the plate had been altered from another letter-number combination.

Authorities also have alerted police to the serial numbers of each of the 2,500 $100 federal reserve notes turned over to the abductor.

NEW YORK (AP)—The striking American Federation of Television and Radio Artists and representatives of the three major broadcast networks report no significant progress in their contract dispute, now in its 11th day.

Freeman Ask Copper Firm Not To Spoil Wilderness

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman yesterday called on the Kennecott Copper Co. to forget profits and abandon plans for mining a "priceless, yet intangible national treasure" in the North Cascades of Washington state.

"The Cascades are an ocean of mountains, frozen in space and time and to call them 'American Alps' understates the case. They are uniquely American—and if Americans destroy their character they will not see their like again," Freeman told the Sierra Club Wilderness Conference.

Kennecott has plans to begin open pit mining in the area and Freeman said the company has a "right to develop it, if they insist."

"If this happens, I want them to know that I will take steps to insure that the highest standards of performance and restoration, under the law, are observed," Freeman said.

Freeman said Kennecott's choice was one of "economics, of choosing alternatives; or balancing a priceless, yet intangible national treasure against ledger sheets and profits."

About 1,500 delegates are attending the conference which is devoted to problems facing the 1964 Wilderness Act.

The act provides setting aside of primitive areas totaling as much as 50 million acres for protection of their natural state.

Reagan Stands Firm On Withholding Tax

COMBINED AP & UPI

SACRAMENTO — Gov. Reagan stands more solidly than ever today against payroll deductions of state personal income taxes, pledging to veto any withholding measure.

The governor, in an interview yesterday, said, "It's been my feeling the past couple days that lest there be any misunderstanding, I ought to make my position clear on this point."

Assembly Speaker Jesse M. Unruh, D - Inglewood, said this week Reagan now holds the key to passage of a tax measure. A tax bill could move swiftly through the legislature if Reagan "could indicate a willngness to accept" withholding, Unruh said. (See also story on page 19.)

FIRING ISSUE

Meanwhile, Reagan's office has rejected a demand by Assembly Democrats that Reagan show them the "two-month study" upon which he based the layoff of 2,632 state Department of Mental Hygiene personnel.

In a letter to Reagan yesterday, Democratic caucus chairman Winfield A. Shoemaker, man Winfield A. Shoemaker, of would be "most helpful" to the majority caucus in determining its position on the cutbacks.

But the governor's office responded that the material was "intra-office papers" and they would not be made public.

"The reluctance of your administration to supply the information lends credence to reports that the reductions in the mental treatment programs were made in an off-the-cuff manner, without regard to the care of mental patients," Shoemaker wrote.

REAGAN'S TRIP

Reagan plans to be among the Hollywood and political personalities attending filmland's annual gala pat-on-the-back, the Academy Awards.

The Republican governor's week also includes a major league baseball game—at Anaheim — and a ride on a Wells Fargo stage coach in Sacramento.

The baseball game, featuring the California Angels, is Tuesday night and the stage ride, a brief one, is to the groundbreaking site of a new Sacramento Union newspaper plant Wednesday, owned by Copley Press.

He'll talk at the State Chamber of Commerce luncheon at San Francisco Friday, the Football Hall of Fame banquet at Beverly Hills Friday night and the Balboa Bay Club, Newport Beach, Saturday night.

Commission Said To Want Rumfort Act Retention

LOS ANGELES (AP)— A special commission has reportedly recommended the controversial Rumford Act on housing rentals be extended.

The Riverside Press-Enterprise's Sacramento correspondent, Martin Salditch, said he learned Friday the commission, appointed by former Gov. Edmund G. Brown, had delivered its report to Gov. Ronald Reagan.

The paper said the report has not been released by the governor's office, but said the contents were disclosed by two of the commission officers, Co-Chairman Lewis Drucker and Executive Secretary John H. Denton.

Earlier in the week, the Senate Government Efficiency Committee approved a bill to repeal the act. Senate action on the issue may come Monday.

Drucker said commission recommendations were:

Retain present prohibition of racial discrimination in the sale or rental of publicly financed single-family homes and apartment houses with five or more units, and in publicly financed duplexes.

Permit property owners to rent or sell the property in dispute while a complaint is being considered.

Replace the state Fair Employment Practices Commission (FEPC) with a state department of equal housing opportunities and a state equal opportunities commission.

Drucker said the suggestions were aimed at taking enforcement away from the commission and placing it in the hands of the department's staff.

"We didn't think a commission such as the FEPC should be both prosecutor and judge."

Homeowners Organize At San Rafael Park

Formation of the San Rafael Park Homeowners Association began Wednesday with a meeting at the Civic Center attended by about 70 residents of the new tract.

William Lang, who organized the meeting, acted as chairman. An interim slate of officers was named, including James Ryan, Thomas Taylor, Ricardo Ratti, Arthur Lorge and William McLachlin. They will prepare by-laws to be presented at the next meeting, to be called within a month.

Romney's Vietnam Stand Is Praised

HARTFORD, Conn. (AP) — Michigan Gov. George Romney vows a Republican White House under his command would not yield to Communist terms in Vietnam. Democrats said Romney's position would lessen the war's impact as a presidential campaign issue.

Republican Sen. Thruston B. Morton of Kentucky said Romney spoke the view of an American majority — "that we should follow the lead of the President" in the Asian conflict.

The White House called the Michigan governor's words "a strong endorsement of the administration's position on Vietnam."

There was Romney criticism, too, but the White House dismissed that as "a few partisan morsels . . ."

For Romney, moving toward a bid for nomination to challenge President Johnson in 1968, last night's speech was a crucial precampaign test. His supporters were convinced he had passed.

HELPED CAUSE

One influential Republican who privately has expressed misgivings about Romney said the governor had strengthened his political position. He said a specific position on the war was crucial to Romney's budding candidacy.

The position Romney took:

"It is unthinkable that the United States withdraw from Vietnam. . .

"Our military effort must succeed. I believe that we must use military force as necessary to reduce or cut off the flow of men and supplies from North Vietnam, to knock out enemy main force units, and to provide a military shield for the south. We must give our gallant fighting men our full support."

Romney unveiled his Vietnam policy before more than 500 persons at a black-tie dinner celebrating the 150th anniversary of the Hartford Times.

DEMO REACTION

"Basically, he comes out in full support of Lyndon Johnson," said Sen. Abraham Ribicoff, D-Conn., who was there. "A few more statements like this and Vietnam ceases to be a political issue. It seems the Republican party has accepted the position of the Democratic party as the national position."

Romney criticized past Johnson decisions, said Congress has been bypassed and charged that administration pronouncements on the war produced "a rupture of trust" between the government and the governor. He counseled against "massive military escalation" and outlined a proposed future "peace with amnesty" for defeated Communists in South Vietnam.

Guilty Plea Entered By Check Suspect

Sema Horn, 34, has pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court yesterday to passing a worthless $108 check with intent to defraud Todd's Department Store in Novato on Feb. 14.

Judge Hadden W. Roth then dismissed a second count and certified the case to Marin Superior Curt for judgment.

Search For Runaway Becomes A Dope Raid

Three persons, one of them on probation for pushing marijuana, were jailed on charges of possessing heroin and marijuana early today in San Rafael in a case that started as a search for a runaway teen-age girl.

San Rafael police arrested Tonia White, a 19-year-old mother, and Robert Dale Litteral, 19, both of 9 Taylor Street, and Joseph William Buckner, 21, of San Francisco.

Litteral was convicted last summer of selling marijuana in San Rafael and sentenced to four months in the county jail and three years probation.

While on probation, he was arrested in January as one of eight youths charged with statutory rape of a 15-year-old girl. The case was referred to juvenile court on Feb. 15.

Police entered the ground floor of the house at 3:30 a.m. after Patrolman Martin J. Conlin saw the runaway San Rafael girl enter the house. Conlin said Miss White gave police permission to enter.

During the unsuccessful search for the girl, a patrolman stationed behind the house reported seeing a hand emerge from a rear window and place something on the ledge.

Police re-entered the house on getting the report and found the four packets of material and a disposable hypodermic needle. One package, already open, contained a white crystalline substance, Conlin said, which had the characteristic look and taste of heroin.

A search produced a corncob pipe with marijuana residue in it and three partly-smoked marijuana cigarettes, and Litteral had an eyedropper syringe on his person, Conlin said.

All three were booked at Marin county jail for possession of narcotics. Miss White and Litteral were also charged for possessing paraphernalia used in injecting narcotics, and Buckner was booked for a $104 backlog of outstanding San Francisco traffic warrants.

Police will seek a warrant for a fourth person who was in the house during the first search but had disappeared by the second.

Miss White's one-year-old son was left at her request with a neighbor, Conlin said.

Conference To Look Into Senior Citizen Problems

A group of Marin County civic leaders and government officials will take a searching look at problems facing the county's older citizens at an all-day conference Saturday sponsored by the Bay Area Social Planning Council.

The conference, entitled "The Challenge of the Added Years," is scheduled to start at 9 a.m. at the San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

Speaking at a morning session on "Guardianship, Conservatorship, Commitment" will be County Counsel Douglas J. Maloney, president of the Legal Aid Society of Marin, and Superior Court Judge Samuel W. Gardiner.

Discussing the economic climate of Marin will be County Assessor Bert Broemmel; Carroll A. Snyker, manager of Marin County Chamber of Commerce; County Planner Paul C. Zucker and Richard Phenix, former consultant to the Citizens Advisory Committee.

An afternoon session on "Rethinking Our Social Problems" will be conducted by Margaret Azevedo, chairman of Marin County Planning Commission; Supervisor Peter H. Behr and Ernest Howard, planning consultant of the Bay Area Social Council.

Following a workshop on "How Do We Meet the Challenge?" a summary will be given by Helene Nemschoff, member of the council's local planning and development division.

Keynote speaker will be Charles P. Weikel, regional representative of the Administration on Aging.

STRIKE

disputes covering 450,000 trucking workers and 135,000 railroaders could plunge the nation into its worst transportation crisis.

Frank Fitzsimmons, Teamsters' general vice president, said the union would never call a nationwide strike and that if there were a major shutdown, the industry will be to blame.

Fitzsimmons, who took over last month from imprisoned Teamsters President James R. Hoffa, is running his first national contract talks. He celebrated his 59th birthday yesterday in an atmosphere of crisis bargaining.

TEI stuck with its wage offer of 44 cents per hour over a three-year contract, including an 11-cent cost-of-living adjustment, plus what it said was 12 cents in fringe benefits and 6 cents in additional cost-of-living payments.

An industry spokesman said this 62-cent package offer compared with Teamsters demands totaling 90 cents per hour.

Six railroad shop craft unions are demanding a 7 per cent pay hike plus extra pay for higher skilled men. Railroad negotiators, headed by J. E. (Doc) Wolfe who represented the industry through a series of major labor crises several years ago, have offered a 5 per cent hike.

The six unions, representing machinists, car men, electricians, boilermakers, sheet metal workers, and firemen and oilers, have issued a strike call for 6 a.m. Wednesday.

There is even a dispute over what date the unions are free to strike under provisions of the Railway Labor Act. The industry contends the strike can't be called before 12:01 a.m. Thursday.

LOS ANGELES (AP)— A Los Angeles County Republican official says more than $32,000 of the money to be raised at the Governor's Ball here April 28 may be used by Governor Reagan for television films and other activities that cannot be charged to the state.

Bruce says the center could then be used as a half-way house for problem youngsters on the way to more permanent residence, including foster homes and group homes which should be developed. He also urged a full exploration of the use of Synanon House for treating some of the youngsters.

Bruce also urged that Busher and Community Mental Health Director Clyde G. Miller develop means of detecting delinquency problems in the schools so that care can start prior to the commission of serious offenses.

ized zone and began plowing.

"We asked repeatedly that the tractor be removed, but the enemy refused, so we were forced to open fire," said a communique from Damascus.

The clash was the most serious Israeli-Arab battle since Israel invaded the Egyptian Sinai Peninsula in 1956. In that battle, French-built Israeli planes destroyed the Egyptian MIG air-strike power on the ground.

Syria's plane losses were believed to be a serious blow to that nation's air force, estimated by military analysts at 20 MIG-21s and 80 slower MIGs. Unconfirmed reports say Syria has only a handful of pilots considered politically reliable enough to be trusted with armed planes.

Saigon Bids For Brief Cease-Fire

SAIGON (UPI)—The South Vietnamese government announced today it would observe a one-day truce on May 23, Buddha's birthday, and asked the Communists to honor it. Saigon coupled the announcement with a renewed offer to talk peace.

U.S. spokesman said American troops would honor the religious holiday truce, if reluctantly. In the past the Americans have complained the Communists used New Year and Christmas cease fire to resupply their forces and redeploy troops.

Communist guerrillas opened a mortar attack on the home base of the U.S. First Air Cavalry Division at An Khe early Sunday (Saturday, U.S. time), and were reported to have hit some of the scores of helicopters parked for the night.

In the fighting North Vietnamese shore batteries hit a second American warship yesterday, wounding one crewman when a shell ripped an 18-inch gash in the main deck of the destroyer Turner Joy. Communist shells hit the destroyer Waddell the day before. In each case the shore batteries were silenced with a salvo of five-inch shells.

A spokesman reported U. S. Air Force and Navy planes carried out 102 bombing missions against North Vietnam and struck the Thai Nguyen steel plant 35 miles from Hanoi for the eighth time.

In South Vietnam B-52 bombers from Guam carried out four strikes against Communist troop emplacements Thursday night and yesterday.

The Viet Cong, trying to disrupt Sunday's local elections, carried out new terror attacks.

BEACH

the full, county-wide report in September. The Bolinas and Bolinas Beach public utilities districts and Stinson Beach County Water District are to contribute $8,000 toward the cost of the study.

The engineers recommended gravity and force main collectors from Stinson Beach along the sand spit to Bolinas by way of a forced main under the Bolinas Lagoon channel. Sewage would be forced to Bolinas Mesa for collection and a gravity run to a point north of the western end of Poplar Road, where a treatment plant would be established.

The discharge of treated sewage would be at the mean low water line of the county's Agate Beach Park.

Second phase construction would include an ocean outfall 2,900 feet from the shore. Third phase would be mainly on an enlarged treatment plant.

The consultants say the project would handle the sewage disposal needs of the area through the year 2,000.

Included in the study was charting of currents during various phases of the tide. The report shows that the current flows northward off the mesa and off Stinson Beach and eddies in the area embraced by Duxbury Reef and the sand spit.

The consultants recommend immediate steps to finance the first phase of the work on an area-wide basis. They also recommend formation of a single agency to finance and manage the work.

STORM

the northern part of the state Sunday with rain beginning by afternoon.

Rain was scattered over the county yesterday, with Manor Hill reporting a high of .40 inches for a 24-hour period ending at 8 a.m. The Civic Center recorded .12 inches for the same period, while San Rafael had only a trace at noon for the past 24 hours.

MOST POPULAR VICTIM IN THE TOWN . . .

Until a couple of days ago, parking lot custodian Franklin L. Hanson of Novato thought he had not an enemy in the world. Then his door bell started ringing.

A cab drew up outside his home at 506 Slowdown Court at 6 p.m. Tuesday with $12 worth of liquor he had not ordered.

Eighteen minutes later a San Anselmo locksmith arrived with orders to help Hansen unlock a door.

At 6:32 p.m. Novato firemen screeched to a halt outside his home to douse a non-existent fire in his washing machine.

Came 7 p.m. and Hanson opened his door to a truck driver with $12 worth of chicken dinners he had never ordered.

Hanson checked with everyone and found it was a woman's voice who gave the orders. He told sheriff's deputies he knew of no one who could have been responsible.

Hippies Due Marijuana Count Trials

Judge Alvin H. Goldstein Jr. of Marin Municipal Court yesterday bound two "hippies" accused of marijuana possession over to Marin Superior Court for trial.

He scheduled arraignment for the pair, Michael Oulette, 19, of Canada, and Joel Morton Isaacson, 24, of Berkeley, for 9:30 a.m. April 17 in the higher court.

Oulette, also charged with a narcotics sale in New York County, N. Y., is scheduled for further proceedings in Marin Municipal Court on the fugitive matter at 2 p.m. Friday.

Oulette, in county jail in lieu of $22,000 total bail, and Isaacson, free on $1,100 bail, and 17 other "hippies" were arrested by sheriff's officers in a March 9 raid on a rented Inverness Mesa house.

Officers testified yesterday that Oulette had a small quantity of marijuana in his duffel bag in the house's loft. They said Isaacson had marijuana in a large green bag. More than eight pounds of marijuana was recovered from the house.

Eleven of the defendants have been certified to juvenile court. Six others are scheduled for jury trial June 19. All but Isaacson and Oulette are charged with the misdemeanor offense of being present were marijuana is being used.

Woman Enters Gas Station, Surprises Thief

Marin County Sheriff's deputies were today looking for an Ignacio service station burglar who may have a tell-tale cut on his back.

Deputy Kenneth Froberg reported that as a woman driver drew into a closed Standard Oil station at 5810 Redwood Highway at 4:20 a.m. to check a map she disturbed the burglar at work.

A man, described as 5 feet 11 inches tall and with dark hair, crashed his way through a window in an effort to escape.

Froberg said the man apparently cut his back seriously. Blood was found at the scene and remnants of a sweater. The burglar had made an effort to open the station safe but all that was missing were 60 cents from a vending machine.

Seoul Crash Kills 55

SEOUL, South Korea (AP) — A twin-engine South Korean air force transport plane smashed into a Seoul slum area today. Officials said 55 persons perished — including all 14 aboard the plane and 41 on the ground. They added that six persons were missing and 36 were injured.

U-Turn Leads To Arrests For Dope

An illegal U-turn in Corte Madera last night led to the arrest for possessing marijuana of a 22-year-old San Rafael man and his friend who had just flown in from Nevada.

Booked into Marin County Jail were Robert Andrew Wilson of 35 Curtis Avenue and Robert Morgan Boyne, 29, of Reno. Both were released on bail today pending hearings in Marin Municipal Court.

The illegal turn into Paradise Drive and Tamalpais Drive at 10:15 p.m. drew the attention of Corte Madera patrolman William Reed and California Highway Patrol officers.

They gave chase and as they were questioning driver Boyne, passenger Wilson tried to hide a small plastic bag, said highway patrolman Edward N. McClintick. The bag appeared to contain marijuana.

In a statement to police, Wilson said he had bought "a lid" of marijuana from a dark-skinned person with a beard and long hair in the Haight-Asbury district of San Francisco for $10.

It was the first time he had ever bought the drug, said Wilson, adding that he had tried marijuana only after he had quit drinking. Two open bottles of beer were found in the truck.

Boyne said he had just arrived on a visit to the Bay Area and was unaware Wilson had marijuana.

Wilson was released on $1,609 bail pending a hearing at 2 p.m. Monday and Boyne on $2,849 bail for a hearing at 1:30 p.m. Tuesday.

Driver Pleads Not Guilty In Killer Crash

I-J Special Report

DOS PALOS, Merced County —A 42-year-old Fresno laborer pleaded innocent yesterday to felony manslaughter and drunk driving charges in the highway deaths of a Mill Valley couple and two other persons.

Judge Rollin A. Moore of Dos Palos Judicial District Court set a preliminary hearing for Wilbert Hall, the accused, for April 24 at 2 p.m. Hall is free on $11,250 bail.

Killed March 7 on Highway 152 east of Los Banos were Mill Valley Post Office carrier Larry Grayson, his wife, Helen Frances, and two passengers, Cheri Kolb of Vancouver, B.C., and Michael Harrison of San Francisco.

Merced County Dist. Atty. Pat Hallford has charged Hall with crossing the center line and hitting Grayson's small car, igniting a butane tank the foursome were taking on a camping trip to Yosemite Valley.

Prisoner Stabbing Remains Unsolved

Tommy B. Sumner, a 26-year-old San Quentin Prison inmate, remained in good condition today in the prison hospital with stab wounds suffered in an attack by an unknown convict.

Prison officials said they have no firm suspects in Thursday's attack on Sumner, a convicted burglar and sexual deviate from Los Angeles County. Before the stabbing, Sumner had told prison authorities his life was in danger.

Humphrey's Belgian Visit Less Hectic

BRUSSELS, Belgium (AP) — Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey flew from Paris to Brussels today on the final visit of his European tour and what was expected to be a relaxed weekend of conferences and ceremony.

But as he lunched with King Baudouin and later conferred with Foreign Minister Pierre Harmelp, antiwar demonstrations erupted downtown. They were less violent than the egg-throwing, flag-burning demonstrations in Paris.

Pro-Chinese Communists paraded briefly chanting "U.S. murderers" but were dispersed by police. In another part of the city, the Union for the Defense of Peace paraded with posters reading: "Lyndon Johnson-murderer," "Humphrey go home" and "Humphrey, stop the bombing." All were references to the war in Vietnam.

Woman Found Shot In Auto

A 40-year-old Mill Valley woman was in critical condition in Marin General Hospital today after being found last night with gun shot wounds apparently self-inflicted, said sheriff's deputies.

Patricia Sinnicks of 221 Elm Avenue was found slumped in a locked car parked in West Seminary Drive at 8:55 p.m.

The discovery was made by Deputy Gary Bartolotti who was making a routine check of the area. A revolver was found in the car, he said.

San Rafael Woman Injured In Crash

Bonnie L. Ahern, 45, of 29 Roosevelt Avenue, San Rafael, was admitted to Marin General Hospital in good condition with neck injuries after an auto accident on Highway 101 south of Corte Madera interchange at 7:20 a.m. yesterday.

Car driver Albert J. Ahern, 56, of the same address, told the California Highway Patrol he was traveling slowly in heavy traffic when he was hit from behind by another car. He was treated for minor head injuries at the hospital.

Talk On Peru Set For Church Society

Miss Patricia Riddell, missionary for the California-Nevada Conference of the Methodist Church, will speak and show slides to the Woman's Society at the First Methodist Church of San Rafael on Wednesday following a noon luncheon. Miss Riddell's topic will be "Modern Day Peru and Its Challenges to Our Church."

SEW SIMPLE

It's Best To Check Pattern Fit First

DEAR EUNICE:

I am so frustrated I don't know what to do. I have been using the same size pattern for years and never have to add to the measurements. With my usual confidence, I recently cut a dress out of Italian silk and when I tried it on, it was so tight across the bust that I can't possibly alter it to fit.

Besides being a costly mistake, I've lost confidence. Are patterns cut by standard measurements or aren't they?

MRS. G. W.

DEAR MRS. W.:

Yes, patterns are cut according to basic standard measurements, however, some patterns are designed with more ease than others.

Some of the new designer patterns are cut very close through the bust area. Unless you have an extremely small bust, it would be wise to measure the actual pattern and compare it with your own measurements before cutting. The pattern must also allow for ease so to be sure the pattern is at least 2 to 3 inches larger than you are.

Mrs. Edwin Wilmarth, Delhi, N.Y., is the Tailor Trix winner of the week. Her suggestion: When sewing on terry cloth with a regular presser foot, the narrow part of the presser foot tends to catch the loops of terry cloth, making it hard to keep it in good condition until the sewing is completed. A zipper foot has but one piece on the foot which is wide enough to slip over the loops without catching any of them.

DEAR EUNICE:

I made a dress with a cowl neckline and made the mistake of pressing the fold line. Now my dress looks plain ugly and doesn't have the soft look I wanted. Why don't patterns tell us these little things?

MRS. A.C.C.

DEAR MRS. A.C.C.:

Patterns are so limited in how much they can tell you; if they made the instructions any longer, it would discourage anyone from sewing. If I could give one valuable word of advice to all of you, please try to visualize your finished garment instead of becoming too engrossed in each step.

If you had pictured a nice soft neckline, you never would have pressed a hard crease in this spot. Try removing enough stitches so that the neckline is free and see if you can't press the crease out of the fabric.

For information on making pattern adjustments send for Mrs. Farmer's illustrated booklet "Your Pattern and You." For your copy send 25 cents and a stamped, self-addressed, long envelope with your request for it to Eunice Farmer in care of The Independent-Journal.

Belvedere Couple Are Feted On Their Silver Anniversary

By MOLLY MARIN

A surprise party at their Belvedere home honored Mr. and Mrs. Gary Gast on their silver anniversary Wednesday night. Joan Gast's sister, Mrs. Hudson Garthwaite of Boulder Creek, and Mrs. Robert Bagnall of Belvedere planned the buffet supper for 30 guests. Mr. and Mrs. William Healy helped with the surprise by inviting the Gasts to their home, ostensibly for dinner, then a telephone call from the Gast children at home, Betsy and David, brought their parents back for the festivities. Their older son, Gary, was unable to come as he is attending the University of Oregon. The Gasts, who were married in Portland 25 years ago, returned last week from a visit with family members in the Oregon City.

SKIPPERS AND CREWS of the two yacht clubs in this weekend's San Francisco Cup challenge race will be honored at a cocktail and trophy pre-

Stewart III of San Rafael, representing St. Francis Yacht Club, and Henry Grandin, of Ross, representing San Francisco Yacht Club. Peter Salz is arranging the party. This is the first race for the cup, which will be sailed for by members of the two Bay Area yacht clubs annually.

Guttmacher said 20 per cent of the women in Australia and New Zealand take the pill, compared to 8.2 per cent in the United States and 3.2 per cent in England.

CONCERT REVIEW

Wall-To-Wall Pupils Get Musical Treat

By MAYBELLE SPECKMAN

Many of the 2,000 fifth and sixth graders of Marin County public, private and parochial schools probably had their first thrilling experience of hearing a full symphony orchestra yesterday morning at the College of Marin gymnasium.

This was provided in one of the special youth concerts of the San Francisco Symphony of nearly 100 players.

Thanks to a program well planned to charm children and conductor Verne Sellin's interesting commentary, there was comparatively little commotion among what looked like wall-to-wall youngsters.

High points for them were probably the performances of two young boys, Mill Valley's 14-year-old oboist Mark Salkind, who was the soloist, and 11-year-old musical novice Scott Oswald of Manor School, Fairfax, chosen by Sellin on the spur of the moment to lead Goldman's "On the Mall" march as a rousing encore.

Mark played Cimarosa's concerto for oboe and strings in a way that would do credit to many a professional adult musician. Possessing talent near genius level, his technique was almost flawless—there was only one imperfect passage due possibly to the conducting at slightly too fast tempo. His phrasing had the utmost fitness, and his expression the most subtle of nuances.

A son of the noted pianists Milton and Peggy Salkind, he is the pupil of Leland Lincoln, head of instrumental music for Reed Union School District.

The orchestra performed the program, chosen with heavy emphasis on melody and rhythm, with exhilarating enthusiasm. With the possible exception of Weber's overture to "Oberon," which opened the concert, and the finale of Haydn's Symphony No. 102 in B flat, the numbers were of the right length for a child's attention span. Two shorter numbers might have made a more nearly ideal length of 50 minutes, rather than one hour for the concert.

A good idea was the dealing with national elements in music as represented in Brahms's Hungarian Dance No. 6, Grieg's Norwegian Dance No. 2 and Spanish Dance No. 1 from Falla's "La Vida Breve."

Fun was amply provided in the introduction of individual instruments of the orchestra, the performance of the "Irish Washerwoman" by Leroy Anderson and little Scott Oswald's leading of the orchestra.

What a symphony can really do was shown in the scherzo from Mendelssohn's "Midsummer Night's Dream" and the electrifying finale of Tchaikovsky's Symphony No. 4.

How great it would be if this type of experience could be made available to all Marin children. Parents could give them some idea of it by taking them to Sunday night's Marin Symphony at the College of Marin gymnasium, or even by seeing that they attend the Marin Youth Orchestra's concert on May 7 at Angelico Hall. Mark is first oboist with the youth orchestra.

Old-Time Train Outing Planned

The cry will be "All Aboard" at Novato April 22 when a special train complete with old-fashioned open-end observation car leaves on a day-long trip into Redwood country on rails usually reserved for freight trains.

The journey is sponsored by the Pacific Coast Chapter of the Railway and Locomotive Historical Society and is open to the public.

Leaving Novato at 9:30 a.m., the special train will travel along Northwestern Pacific's freight-only line through Petaluma, Santa Rosa, Healdsburg to Willits in Mendocino County.

The final leg of the excursion to the Redwood trees will be by the "Super Skunk" steam train.

Easter Campaign

The mail campaign of the Easter Seal Society of Marin has netted 80 per cent of its goal of $27,500, according to chairman Thomas Falvey. Contributions still are being accepted.

Hub Librarian Won't Return, Board Admits

San Anselmo City officials today reluctantly admitted that Mrs. Virginia Stewart, head librarian of the San Anselmo Library who has been on leave since Oct. 1, will not return to her post.

Mayor John M. Reichmuth confirmed that she is resigning. Asked whether the city council and library board had not in fact known several months ago that she had no intention of returning from her "leave of absence," Reichmuth admitted that "there was a good suspicion that she wasn't coming back."

Asked whether Mrs. Lucy Palo, acting librarian for the past six months, was now permanent librarian, Reichmuth said she has not officially been appointed yet. Library board chairman Valerie M. Ansel confirmed that the library board would recommend that Mrs. Palo be appointed to replace Mrs. Stewart.

Mrs. Stewart could not be reached for comment.

A San Anselmo native, Mrs. Stewart has been head librarian since 1936. She and her husband, Coulter Stewart, an employee of Pacific Gas and Electric Co., live at 115 Broadmoor Court.

Mrs. Palo has been assistant librarian for 25 years.

Beach Fire Ban

An ordinance banning beach fires will be considered Monday by Bolinas Fire Protection District commissioners at 7:30 p.m. in the firehouse, reported Chief Jose A. Silva. Commissioners were to hold a hearing on the proposed ordinance today at 1 p.m. in the firehouse.

TO COMPETE — Mezzo-soprano Margery Tede of San Francisco, who has appeared as soloist at College of Marin concerts and with the Marin Symphony, will compete April 12-14 as a finalist in the National Federation of Music Clubs' bi-annual "Young Artist Awards" program in New York.

Lung Damage Suit Is Filed

Sausalito artist Stella Y. Popowski Thursday filed suit in Marin Superior Court for $75,000 damages for smoke injuries to her lungs, allegedly suffered in a March 22 fire in her apartment at 503 Easterby Street.

She accuses apartment builder owner Terry DeLuc of negligent wiring and heating, resulting in the blaze.

The fire caused $15,000 damage, according to firemen.

Suspect Hears Car Theft Counts

Philip H. Coit, 19, of 19 Allyn Avenue, San Anselmo, was arraigned in Marin Municipal Court yesterday on a felony complaint alleging two counts of auto theft.

Judge Hadden W. Roth scheduled plea entry for 2 p.m. Monday.

Coit is accused of taking a car owned by Bonnie Pieczynski Merz of 57 Spruce Road in Fairfax on April 7, and another automobile of unknown ownership.

Fairfax police arrested him after a chase early yesterday.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

Silicone For Sagging Flesh May Gain Final FDA Approval

VAN DELLEN

Research continues on silicone injections beneath the skin to smooth out wrinkles, fill in depressions and firm the breast. The compounds do not induce tumors that used to occur within six months after paraffin was injected for the same purpose. These unfortunate experiences of the past explain why the FDA is withholding final approval. No serious reactions have ensued even though silicone has been used for several years in this country and since 1949 in Japan.

THREE medical-grade liquid silicones have been studied. Two vulcanize within the tissues shortly after injection and form solid mass-silicone rubber. The third remains liquescent and is the type used most frequently. It is transparent and less viscious than ordinary glue.

Some physicians inject less than a drop at any one puncture site on the face. Arranging the injections close together allows for greater precision. Other medicos run the needle under the skin injecting as the needle is removed.

ACCORDING TO Dr. Robert A. Berger, the method is used frequently to elevate depressed scars resulting from acne or injury. When the scar is small, but the deep ice-pick type, the substance cannot force up the imbedded fibrous adhesions. Broad, but shallow or ridged, depressed defects can be elevated to the skin level. The material does not alter the outward appearance of the scar.

Silcone elevates deep facial lines such as those above the brow or those extending from the nose to the corners of the mouth. The chemical also is of value in filling depressions on the face due to a paralysis of the muscles. The fluid is not too effective in smoothing out crinkles or crow's-feet because the underlying tissue is too loose.

SILICONE CAUSES little or no tissue reaction. Its chemical structure is stable. The material remains fixed at the injection site with no absorption over a period of years. The skin over the injection site remains indistinguishable from normal tissue.

Dr. Van Dellen will answer questions on medical topics if stamped, self-addressed envelope accompanies request to the I-J.

DAUGHTER KNOWS

M. P. writes: I'm 13 years old and my mother makes me drink tea instead of milk because she says milk is fattening. I have trouble making her realize that milk is good for you. Should I be allowed to have it?

REPLY

Yes, and your mother cannot object to skim milk, because it has all the nutrients of milk without the fat.

MEAL IN A CAPSULE

S. P. writes: Are there pills a person could take in place of a meal?

REPLY

This possibility has been discussed for years but, to my knowledge, no one has been able to produce a pill that will take the place of a turkey or roast beef dinner. I like to eat and hope the atomic age will not end this fine old custom.

SNORING SOUNDS

G. R. writes: What makes a person snore or breathe heavily? The individual does not know he is doing this.

REPLY

They never do, especially when asleep. The snoring sound stems from vibration of various structures in the mouth, throat, and nose.

REST AND MORE REST

N. E. R. writes: What was Weir/Mitchell's treatment of anxiety?

REPLY

Rest in bed for several weeks.

BLEACHING THE HAIR

N. B. writes: Will bleaching the hair over a number of years cause cancer of the scalp?

REPLY

Even though the cause of cancer is not known, I doubt if bleaching ever has been considered as a possible origin.

Helen Bottel Is Our Idea Of Top 'Advice' Columnist

"ADVICE TO THE LOVELORN" columns have been sure-fire reader-interest features in newspapers for half a century.

During the Hearst era of "yellow" journalism, lovelorn advice columns were thinly disguised fiction aimed at entertaining and titillating readers. Only the grossly ignorant reader could regard them as a possible source of helpful information for solving personal problems.

Out of the depression of the 1930s grew a substantial trend toward responsibility in the press. At the same time, the general intelligence and sophistication level of reader audiences began to rise. Old fashioned advice-to-the-lovelorn began to fall into disfavor, probably first with most readers and then as a consequence with newspaper editors.

During the late 1940s and early 1950s, lovelorn advice columns probably fell to their lowest level of disfavor.

THEN ALONG CAME a couple of smart twin sisters whose names will not be mentioned here. They had sophistication, education and a command of Noel Coward-type witticism.

First one and then the other of these twins turned out new-look advice columns.

For many years, these two columns—competitors whose twin sister relationship is almost never publicized—have been the hottest thing in advice columns.

Readership surveys accord them top spots on the scale of popularity with readers.

Trouble is, when a serious reader studies one of these advice columns closely, he cannot help wondering if the main concentration is not on the wise-crack answers to reader questions about personal problems. A serious effort to deal reasonably with heavy personal burdens is rarely evident.

In a sense, the most popular of today's advice columns are throwbacks to the yellow journalism period, except that the writing is updated to titillate today's educated and sophisticated reading audience.

The bereft person in need of serious counseling seems to be just a pawn in this game.

BECAUSE OF THIS the I-J for years did NOT carry any kind of advice to the lovelorn column.

Then came Helen Bottel.

Her column makes reasonably interesting reading. It appears almost every day in the I-J's "Marin Women" pages.

But more important, she genuinely tries to help people with problems, giving them good common-sense advice. This is her first and foremost concern; she leaves the wisecracks and titillation to others.

Helen Bottel has never visited the I-J offices and is unknown personally to any of us.

But we know by her column and her correspondence that she dedicates herself first to helping others with problems and second to being a newspaper columnist.

She never makes this claim; she just lives it.

IF YOU READ HER column, watch for those mysterious little "personal" notes on the end of it occasionally.

They are direct responses and suggestions to Marin County individuals who have brought some over-burdening problem to her, usually anonymously so she has no other way to reply than through her column.

Occasionally we find out — she doesn't advertise it even to us who buy her column—that she has responded privately and personally to a burdened Marin person who gave his or her name and address.

Obviously a national columnist cannot perform personal by-mail counseling for every person with a problem throughout the country.

But Helen Bottel does not turn her back on anyone with a really critical problem. She jumps in and gets off a sympathetic and helpful answer just as soon as she possibly can. She does this while maintaining in strict confidence the names and even the problems of the people she helps privately. She did tell us, however, that the very first critical matter which came to her from Marin was a letter from a local high school girl, apparently of good family, who had become "hooked" on drugs and was beside herself not knowing where to turn or what to do. Helen Bottel helped her immediately with sound sensible advice.

If you think all this adds up to a kind of one-man testimonial dinner for Helen Bottel, so be it.

Bouquets And Brickbats

BOUQUETS to Novato residents and volunteer leaders who took part in the community-wide blitz againnst tuberculosis last Sunday.

A BOUQUET to determined mailman, Edmond J. Fagan of Novato, who hung on to a stolen car while being dragged 170 feet and stopped four teen-agers who were trying to make the getaway.

A BOUQUET to Councilman Charles W. Aby of San Rafael, who retired from the post after 16 years of service to the city.

BRICKBATS to irresponsible archers who go around shooting arrows through windows of homes. Such dangerous practices must be stopped before someone is seriously injured or killed.

A BOUQUET to Paul Edward Zensius of San Rafael, who celebrated his 25th anniversary with the California Highway Patrol. In addition to his regular duties as highway patrolman, Zensius is CHP liaison with the courts and has made traffic safety for both adults and children one of his pet projects.

A BOUQUET to Christine Smith, 17, of Marin Catholic High School for winning the Lions Club student speaker contest for Marin County. She will enter a regional contest against the Sonoma County winner next month.

BOUQUETS to the group of Marin high school teen-agers who raised $400 at an art fair in Sausalito last Saturday for the Committee for the Rescue of Italian Arts.

A BOUQUET to San Rafael Police Chief Charles Chiesa for conducting seminars to train his men on combating car theft. It was during one of these training sessions that all squad cars were found parked outside the police station instead of patrolling the streets.

BANK INSISTS ON COURTESY

One New York bank was so sure of courteous treatment of customers by its employees that it offered three $2 bills to any depositor who found one of its staff neglecting to smile, say "hello" or "thank you."

During the first month of the offer, the bank had to pay out only $72 to 36 depositors—an average of only slightly more than one customer a day.

The bank became so confident that its employees were friendly that it stepped up the offer to $10 for any customer who was not treated with due respect at any of its branches.

To be habitually friendly and considerate towards others is not easy. But it is a practice that all of us should cultivate at home, on the job, in meetings, at school and in every other setting.

Make sure, however, that the care you show people is rooted in love of God. Carefully avoid surface politeness, which is more interested in making a favorable impression than in reaching out to others with a sympathy that springs from the heart.

"Welcome one another, therefore, as Christ has welcomed you, for the glory of God."

(Romans 15:7)

Let me be Your instrument in bringing divine love into the lives of others, O Lord.

'Annie' Commended As Teen-Age Effort

Editor, Independent-Journal:

It was wonderful to sit and see all these boys and girls ("Annie Get Your Gun") working so hard to please everyone.

Seeing how easy it is to put all your time to enjoyable times — it makes it hard for children to be among children who have the run of LSD and marijuana, etc., — stealing, doing injury to helpless oldsters. I don't know all of the children enrolled in "Annie," but you can tell what kind of homes they come from. Especially we'd like to personally thank the young man that came around to the front door and thanked as many people personally as he could get to. He was called Paunee Bill and on the card of intro, he was Jim Beach. So thanks, Jim, and all the staff, music department, Mr. Jones, Mr. Rinaldi.

Editor, Independent-Journal:

In a world at war, where values are distorted and determined by computers, it is a pleasure to be able to experience real peace and harmony. This I did Sunday early afternoon among Hal Painter's tapestries at the Unitarian Universalist Church of Marin, San Rafael.

The world of Hal's is obviously the real world we all live in but forget, or do not see, because we let ourselves be caught up in the garbage that machines, money and competition drag us in.

If you are in need of some peace of mind and beauty, and who is not, do take a look, a long, slow look at a magnificent show of taperstries by a master who lives his art and therefore never compromises. Go look at hangings, using nothing but natural vegetable materials, dried but still alive, not crumbling or dead. Look at tapestries in hand spun, undyed natural sheep wool, or some in dyed yard just as beautiful.

It is a show of great dignity, elegance, beauty and a statement of complete integrity.

Thank you, Karel Botermans for having such an exhibit in the halls of your church, quite fitting to your work I should say. Thank you Hal Painter for showing us the real side of life: Peace and love.

Private School Number Alarming

Editor, Independent-Journal:

As concerned parents of the Sausalito School District, we would like to comment on the current controversy on the number of children from our district going to private schools. Whatever the figure, the number is increasing, and this does not include the families who have moved away because of the schools.

Having accomplished a unique integration, of which parents in both Sausalito and Marin City approve, we must now concentrate on our academic standards to keep people here.

'Physicists' Viewer Urges All To See It

Editor, Independent-Journal:

On April 1, I had the wonderful good fortune to enjoy such an unusual cultural treat, that I cannot rest easy until I tell all good people everywhere to go see it before it is too late.

I am talking about the play, "The Physicists," by Friedrich Durrenmatt now being performed on Friday and Saturday nights at the Mill Valley Municipal Golf Club at 8 p.m. and with only two more week-ends still to run: April 7, 8, 14, and 15.

One of the stars of the play is Dave Sarvis of "Salt of the Earth" fame, and another is Manny Brookman of Mime Troupe fame. But the whole cast is absolutely superb, and the casting and direction by Sali Lieberman approaches as close to perfection, not merely as I can ever recall having seen, but actually as I could ever imagine to be possible!

A new and rare cultural phenomenon has suddenly appeared in our midst, The Mill Valley Center For The Performing Arts, and their very first production, "The Physicists," shows that we must cherish and nurture this oasis of cultural delight and expand it into a cultural Garden of Eden wherein all who wish may partake of the forebidden fruit.

In Act I the play very deceptively appears to be developing as some sort of light comedy and spoof; but in Act II very cleverly emerges as a deep and penetrating insight on the great moral crisis of our time, with a surprise, smash-ending that tops absolutely all surprise, smash-endings that have ever preceeded it.

Coming into Mill Valley from Highway 101 brings you onto East Blithedale along which you proceed to Carmelita which is one block past the municipal tennis courts. On Carmelita you turn right and follow it to where it ends at Buena Vista where you turn right again and proceed along Buena Vista to the Mill Valley Municipal Golf Club which stands on a knoll to the left of the road.

Drath's Guise As A Patriot

Editor, Independent-Journal:

Today, upon by return home from work, I found in my mailbox a circular advertising a sprign mobilization to end the war in Vietnam. The sponsoring groups were most impressive, title wise, and in tenor alone would lull the lamebrain into feeling impressed. I, unfortunately, have a son, a paratrooper who, soon, will have to pit his ability and guts against the enemy so that these creeps may live and exercise their voluble and ignorant jaws against a war that our nation must fight.

They further laud the actions of one Phil Drath as a great man, a man of faith and strength going to the enemy to heal their wounds. I recall another such person many years ago; Judas Iscariot, a great man who sold his Christ down the river; another was named Benedict Arnold, who sold his country the same way. This Drath combines the two, both God and Country at one fell swoop, under the guise of patriotism. Perhaps he and these others would be better off if they had their passports cleared for Russia. There they could open their big mouths and get their heads blown off. Hoping this will come to pass.

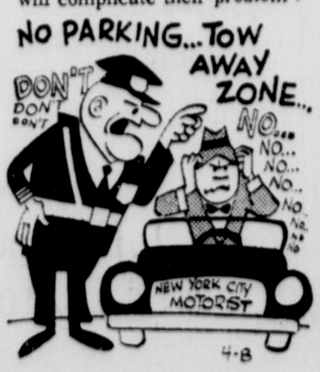
TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A NEW YORK restaurant whose central location has made its parking problem particularly acute, has circulated the following list of helpful hints to its clientele:

"Buy a tow-truck of your own. Be your brother's clipper . . . Restrict your driving to the golf course. . . . Make your auto look like a police car . . . Take your license plates with you. They'll tow away your car anyhow, but think how the absence of a license number will complicate their problem . . . place a sign on your car which says 'CLERGY' — but dress right. A Tyrolean hat is not recommended . . . Best yet, sell your car, and come by subway or taxicab!"



IN HIS BOOK, "With Kennedy," Pierre Salinger recalls witnessing the historic meeting between President Kennedy and Premier Khrushchev. The latter was wearing a decoration that JFK failed to recognize. Mr. K. proudly explained that it was the Lenin Peace Medal. "Ah, yes," nodded JFK, properly impressed. "Here's hoping you do nothing to make them take it away from you!"

Presumably, Mr. K. still has his Lenin Peace Medal. It's his job they took away!

DR. HAL TOWNE, popular Pittsburgh cleric, tells the story of the Sunday when one fashionable church's collection plate came back very sparsely filled indeed. The minister dolefully shook off the coins, then sighed piously, "Bless their stingy little hearts!"

Johnson Uses Humphrey As Wind Gauge Across Europe

WASHINGTON — It was like holding a wet finger up in the air to see which way the wind was blowing when President Johnson sent Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey on a good-will mission to Europe.

He found that some of the wind could have been catastrophic. For what almost happened to Humphrey might have turned out far worse than the roughing up Vice President Richard M. Nixon got on his Latin-American tour in 1958.

Johnson himself has not visited Europe as President. This caused some wondering about his concern for relations with the Allies, a relationship which has deteriorated a bit.

SINCE PRESIDENT John F. Kennedy, with even less time in the White House than Johnson, made two European trips, Johnson's staying at home was even more noticeable.

But Johnson has had the Vietnam war to handle, to worry about and keep him busy. No doubt his official receptions would have been cordial — but perhaps not hearty, because of some dissatisfaction in Europe over the U. S. role in Vietnam.

Just because there is dissatisfaction there was no assurance that any Johnson trip through the streets of Europe would not be hectic, molested, or even violent.

And if Johnson were mistreated, or worse, this country's European relationship might be wrecked. So, as time passed, Johnson had a lot to think about before going abroad. Humphrey went.

HE LEFT MARCH 26, visited one capital after another, had a more or less pleasant journey, argued with the British Parliament in private about Vietnam, handled himself well and got a few jeers. He ran into some long-haired demonstrators in Holland, had his car pelted with eggs in Florence, but otherwise seemed to be coming through all right until Wednesday in West Berlin.

There the police announced they had seized 11 extremists involved in a bomb plot against Humphrey on his scheduled visit to the city today.

The extremists didn't represent the German people, but they were a menace and there are probably bands of them in every city in Europe where Johnson might have gone if he, instead of Humphrey, had made the trip.

AT THIS WRITING it isn't clear whether the group arrested in Berlin was anti-American because of Vietnam or anti-American because of some ideology or whether they were agents of some government set loose to cause chaos.

But there are so many nuts loose in the world the same thing might have happened here if the queen of England visited the United States or French President Charles de Gaulle came over.

Yet, this grisly possibility or the more nearly actual scheme against Humphrey will probably not deter heads of state from traveling abroad.

TO BE EQUAL

Negro Employment Progress Is Noted

THE OUTLOOK FOR employment opportunities for Negro citizens is still bad. Unemployment continues at more than double the rate for white workers and the unemployment rates for young people looking for their first jobs is catastrophically high; one out of every three Negro teen-age boys who want jobs cannot find them.

Corresponding figures for white workers and white youngsters have been improving at the same time that the figures for Negroes have been getting worse.

IN THE FACE OF an otherwise grim situation however, some progress is being made. More than ever before, the thousands of Negro college graduates are finding acceptance in professional and managerial jobs long closed to them. They are opening doors in government, business and industry through which many others will follow.

The proportion of non-whites holding professional jobs has increased from 3.9 percent in 1955 to 5.9 per cent in 1965, the last year for which there are figures.

This indicates that the expanded educational opportunities of recent years have begun to pay off in better jobs for the determined pacesetters of the new generation. It also indicates that employers are beginning to learn how to be color-blind in their hiring practices.

BUT THERE IS SUCH a long way to go. Much of the new hiring was done by government agencies, and a lot of the improved job status of many Negro workers is due to upgrading and training on their government jobs.

Although the government's employment policy leaves much to be desired, private industry is still the follower, not the leader, in hiring Negroes for managerial positions and in training and upgrading their present Negro employees.

A look at some government agencies reveals the wealth of talent lost to business through its short-sighted hiring practices. The three largest post offices in the nation — Chicago, New York, and Los Angeles — are run by postmasters who are Negro.

Taken together, these three offices handle 11 billion pieces of mail, have receipts of $650 million per year, and have 77,000 employees.

Few corporations are larger than these offices and few managers in private industry have anywhere near that many employees to supervise.

THAT SUCH TALENT IS available to the federal government is due to more progressive policies of hiring Nogroes and promoting qualified men. A Post Office official is quoted as asying "While others were discriminating against Negroes, we were hiring them, and as a result, we got a lot of good Negroes to promote. There's no reason private industry or anyone else couldn't have had these people except they didn't hire them all these years."

I am reminded of what James A. Linen, President of Time Inc., told the Urban League's annual conference last summer. He said: "We (business) have carefully calculated the most efficient use of capital equipment and machinery, but when it comes to the utilization of manpower we have allowed uneconomic factors to enter into the equation. We have allowed bias based on race or religion to determine, in too many instances, whom we would hire . . ."

Fortunately many other top businessmen share Mr. Linen's concern and are making porgress in opening up job opportunities at all levels of employment. The big problem is in getting smaller firms with less sophisticated and intelligent managers to see the light, as well as in getting the message filtered down from progressive company presidents to their middle-level managers who do most of the hiring.

Forty-three Marin students were announced today as state scholarship award winners.

In addition, the California State Scholarship and Loan Commission announced four reserve scholarship winners from Marin. These are awarded students attending junior college, to be held in reserve until they attend four-year institutions.

DRAMA REVIEW

'Bald Soprano' And 'The Lesson' Take Funny Looks At Humanity

By KARL BARRON

Eugene Ionesco writes plays about people we all know. They may be absurd, but when they keep repeating their inanities you become aware that you've heard that song before—right in your back yard.

In the duo of one-acters being presented by Homestead Players at Brown's Hall in Mill Valley, "The Bald Soprano" contains the most familiar characters; the Smiths gabbling trivialities, the Martins totally alienated from each other. "The Lesson", on the other hand, is more concerned with the pretensions and deceptions which enter into communication between humans.

In "The Lesson," there are only three characters. A professor, a sudent and a maid. As the professor begins to prepare the student for her "doctorate" it is immediately evident that neither teacher nor child is willing to really commit himself on anything which demands an opinion rather than a fact.

Then, as the professor launches into an ever duller lecture, the girl develops a toothache, and the play becomes progressively funnier.

An outstanding job is turned in by Nedra Ruiz as the student. Her gradual buildup of the toothache is done flawlessly, and she is always in command of voice and body. As the professor, Earl Robertson is relaxed and believable, while Annmarie Chambers lends good support as the maid.

Robertson also plays Mr. Martin in "The Bald Soprano" with easy facility. As the woman who shares his bed, but does not know him, Toni Sawyer is excellent. Ilene Katzman and Carl Dern are the Smiths and set a somewhat slow pace at the opening, but soon pick it up and get the laughs under way.

Direction by Jim Bebout (with initial stage direction by William Hughes) is generally good, although at times characters seem to be wandering for the sake of locomotion rather than motivation.

The plays are staged in arena style in the middle of Brown's Hall in a highly pleasing set designed by Tom Borden. It is a welcome change from that horrid little low proscenium.

Perhaps the most interesting thing about this production is that it is integrated. The color of the actors has nothing to do with the plays, and one of the cast members is Negro. I have not bothered to single out the performer, because it doesn't matter. Only to prove the point that an actor is an actor is an actor. Bravo, Homestead Players!

The Ionesco plays will be presented again tonight at 8:30 and next Friday and Saturday.

Bank Loses Court Battle First Round

Redwood National Bank, accused by two San Rafael businessmen of welshing on promised loans, yesterday was found negligent in its conduct of the transaction by Judge Joseph G. Wilson in Marin Superior Court.

He said degree of negligence has not been decided, however, and a memorandum will be prepared on that matter in the near future. The judge then scheduled a second phase of the court trial, the phase affixing damages, for the master calendar May 22.

The damages phase should start May 23, he said, and last about four days.

Plaintiffs Herbert C. Heller and Edward K. Wachsman alleged the bank backed out on promises of loans totaling $475,000. Heller contended the bank promised him a $200,000 loan on Aug. 26, 1963, to build the Heller Baby News Center, 514 Fourth Street, and Wachsman maintained he was promised $275,000 to build the Wachsman Building, 914 Mission Avenue, both in San Rafael.

They claimed the bank welshed after learning that Eastern time deposit certificates to be used as security could not be further encumbered, and the bank then wrongfully caused them to sign notes for $28,500 that the bank had paid out in the loans.

Redwood had filed a cross-complaint seeking the $28,500.

Last Pleas Awaited By Death Row Inmate

A bearded Tennessee Negro who killed a Sacramento policeman in a holdup looked to the U.S. Supreme Court today to save him from becoming Wednesday the first man executed in the state's gas chamber in more than four years.

"I kind of hate having that distinction," said Aaron Mitchell, 37, in a death row interview yesterday after the U.S. Court of Appeals rejected his petition for a writ of Habeas corpus.

"Now it's up to the Supreme Court.

"If I give up all hope, I'm lost already. I've got five more days."

Of his shootout with police in which officer Arnold Gamble was killed after a robbery in 1963, Mitchell said:

"It was one of those unfortunate accidents."

Mitchell had this advice for young people:

"Get all the education you can, so you can be able to communicate. That's why discrimination is so adamant, you might say. People can't communicate with each other."

Hope Abandoned Of Recovering Biosatellite

MOUNTAIN VIEW (UPI) — A lengthy sea-air search for the Biosatellite I capsule has ended in failure. The spacecraft was believed to have re-entered the earth's atmosphere on Valentine's Day.

A spokesman for the Ames Research Center at Moffett Field here said Friday that a final aerial search of the ocean north of Sydney in an 8,000 square mile area failed to locate the Biosatellite.

It was launched from Cape Kennedy Dec. 14 and was supposed to re-enter the atmosphere three days later. But a retro-motor failed to fire on the capsule.

Ames scientists said this caused the satellite to decay its orbit slowly until it re-entered the earth's atmosphere two months late.

Insects, plants and other lower forms of life were aboard the spacecraft in hopes of testing their adapability to the upper atmosphere.

Tobacco exports from U.S. growers are expected to increase by one-fifth in fiscal 1967.

'New Look' For Openers Monday; Pirates Favored

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

A rash of major trades, a few retirements and a smattering of injuries add up to a talent shuffle of about 35 per cent from 1966's opening line-ups when the big leagues start the baseball season Monday and Tuesday.

Washington will jump the gun, as usual, with its special Presidential Opener with President Lyndon Johnson invited to throw out the first ball. LBJ or his sub will be working on a four-year Senator losing streak.

The New York Yankees who ousted the Senators from their traditional home in last place, will provide the opposition Monday afternoon at D.C. Stadium. Among the non-political events will be the unveiling of Mickey Mantle as the Yankee first baseman.

Cincinnati also opens at home Monday, a special privilege granted to the Reds, presumably in the days of Abner Doubleday. The usual sellout crowd at Crosley Field will get a first look at Manager Dave Bristol's new triple shift line-up with Pete Rose in left, Deron Johnson at third and Tommy Helms at second.

The Cincinnati fans also will be the first to view the latest Los Angeles Dodger mixture, without Sandy Koufax and Maury Wills.

Rookie Gene Michael, obtained from Pittsburgh in the Wills deal, will play shortstop and Bob Bailey, another ex-Pirate from the same transaction, will be in left, West Parker, the first baseman, will be in center because of Willie Davis' sprained ankle (not the sun) and Ron Fairly, the right fielder, will play first. Ron Hunt, the former Met, will be on second.

That leaves catcher John Roseboro and third baseman Jim Lefebvre (Nate Oliver opened at second last year) from last season's opening alignment. Lou Johnson may or may not be in the outfield depending on his stomach problem.

The Dodger shifts give a rough idea of the changes that have taken place in the majors since last October. Only Pittsburgh, having added Wills and moved him to third base, and Baltimore remain relatively unchanged.

Independent-Journal Sports

THIRD SECTION Sat., April 8, 1967 21

Baltimore and Pittsburgh have been established as the two favorites by the sports writers, the sportscasters and the pros at Las Vegas. Minnesota and Detroit are supposed to furnish the most opposition to the Orioles. San Francisco and Atlanta are expected to challenge the Pirates.

After the two Monday games —Los Angeles at Cincinnati and New York at Washington — the 16 other clubs will swing into action Tuesday. The full two-day 10-game program may draw about 325,000 if the weather is right. Four of the Tuesday games will be played at night.

Baltimore's defending champs who won the pennant by nine games and then swept the Dodgers in a four-straight World Series, open at home against the Minnesota Twins, who have been strengthened by the addition of pitcher Dean Chance. However, it will be Jim Kaat, the 25-game winner, who will oppose the Orioles in the opener.

Pittsburgh's National League favorites visit Shea Stadium to face the New York Mets who may be struggling to hold onto last year's modest gain (ninth place) this summer.

Philadelphia, playing Tony Taylor at first for recuperating Bill White, will bump into Ken Holtzman, already being billed as the new Koufax, when they face the Chicago Cubs at Wrigley Field.

The Atlanta powerhouse will be in the Astrodome to take on the Houston Astros who may present the novel sight of Eddie Mathews playing first base. The night contest will be the first National League game for ex-Yank Clete Boyer, now the Braves' third baseman.

St. Louis will also have night action in what figures to be a fine pitching duel between the Cards' Bob Gibson, a 21-12 performer, and the San Francisco Giants' Juan Marichal, the $100,000 dandy with the 25-6 record.

Franks Sees Half-Dozen Contenders In N. L. Race

Herman Franks was asked to make a prediction about the 1967 National League baseball race before it gets under way next week and the manager of the Giants threw up his hands.

"I wouldn't think of trying to predict the outcome," said Franks, simulating an expression of horror at the thought of anyone pinning a pennant prediction on him.

Franks was reminded that was the verbatim phraseology he used precisely a year ago when asked for a prediction about the 1966 National League race in which the Giants finished second, 1½ games in back of the pennant-winning Dodgers.

Same Thing All Over Again

"I also remember saying at the start of last season's race that you could throw a blanket over half a dozen teams," said Franks. "Well, it's the same thing all over again this year. It's always that way in the National League. Nobody is going to run away and hide from the others."

Surely, he secretly believed that the Giants were going to win it all this year notwithstanding those Las Vegas odds which picked the Pirates 2-1 favorites and relegated the Giants to another runnerup role at 3-1.

Didn't he recall saying at Candlestick Park during a press conference just before spring training opened that the Giants had no way to go but up if they got all the help expected this year?

"Yes," said Franks.

Sadecki A Disappointment

Well, didn't he get the help expected? Maybe Ray Sadecki's spring performance was a disappointment. And maybe the injury to Tito Fuentes was unexpected.

But there were several big plus points about the spring encampment, such as Jay Alou's complete form reversal from a negative 1966 spring; the discovery of Cesar Gutierrez; Jim Davenport's sparkling fill-in role at shortstop and the heartening pitching performances of the team's Big Five—Juan Marichal, Gaylord Perry, Bob Bolin, Lindy McDaniel and Frank Linzy.

"Over-all," said Franks, "the spring training period was most promising. There were some disappointments."

Herman Deeply Displeased

Franks declined to single out Sadecki and Fuentes as disappointments but there was no doubt that he was displeased deeply with them.

"A pennant depends on many factors," said Franks, "and a little bit of luck is one of them—staying free of injuries."

Franks then seemed to lose himself in an unpleasant memory—the memory of two injuries last season to Fuentes that resulted in the shortstop missing six weeks of action.

Warriors To Speed Up Attack

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The San Francisco Warriors, who hit a snag in the third game of their Western Division National Basketball Association playoffs with the St. Louis Hawks, hope their fast break will carry them right into the championship finals.

The key to Warrior success, says their top scorer Rick Barry, is running.

"We'll have to do more running to win Saturday," he said.

(Tonight's game will be televised by KTVU, Channel 2, at 6 o'clock.)

San Francisco won the first two games of the playoff 117-115 and 143-136 before they were derailed Wednesday 115-109 by the Hawks.

Barry scored 38 and 47 points, respectively, in the first two games and 31 here when the Hawks won.

The teams will resume the battle here tonight in the best-of-seven series. They move back to San Francisco Monday for the fifth game at the Cow Palace, 8:30 p.m.

"We lost Wednesday because we didn't do a good job of rebounding, so we couldn't pull enough fast breaks," Barry said.

FRAYED STRING

The winner in the West will play either Philadelphia or Boston in the NBA's finals. Philadelphia has won three straight and is only a game away from taking the Eastern playoff and ending Boston's string of championships at eight.

The two Eastern division teams meet Sunday afternoon in Boston in a televised game. (See story on page 23.)

"We also made a lot of stupid mistakes Wednesday which we'll have to eliminate," Barry said. "We were behind by about four points at one time. We brought the ball down court six times and had only one shot."

Bill Sharman, San Francisco coach, says he plans no changes for tonight's game. He said Richie Guerin, the Hawks' player-coach, hasn't tried anything different in the playoffs, and he doesn't expect him to.

SAME PLAN

Guerin agrees. "It's more than likely that we'll follow the same plan in Saturday's game that we did Wednesday," Guerin said. "Much will depend on how things go in the opening quarter, of course."

Part of that game plan was using rookie Lou Hudson as a guard on defense and starting Joe Caldwell as offensive guard in Guerin's place. The Hawks coach said he made the move to get more speed into the lineup.

The Hawks also figure to use Zelmo Beaty outside to draw the Warriors' big Nate Thurmond away from rebounding position. That would leave Bill Bridges free to clear the boards. Bridges backed up the strategy Wednesday by pulling down 32 rebounds.

MARIN FAVORITES WIN

Swimmers' Rousing Start

Swimming, the built-in sport for this wet season, got off to a rousing start in the Marin County Athletic League yesterday, with co-favorites Terra Linda, Drake and Tamalpais, all winning their initial loop dual meets.

Drake was probably the most impressive in terms of times as it raced away from a competent Redwood team, 56-39, while Tamalpais dunked outmanned San Rafael, 63-28 and Terra Linda swam past Novato 52½-42½.

Drake's "Fantastic Four" of Ben Edmonds, Bob Girvin, Paul Sagues and John Skaer won seven individual events and Skaer helped out to win the 200-yard medley relay to account for all of the Pirates' first-place efforts.

Girvin, with a sizzling 2 minutes, 11.1 seconds in the 200 individual medley, won a pair of events as did Sagues, who set a new Drake record of 51.0 in the 100 freestyle, breaking the mark he held with Geroge Girvin of 51.1.

Edmonds also chipped in with a couple of victories and Skaer won one.

Tam had trouble from San Rafael double winner Ned Johnston and Eric Sluser, who upset Malcom Foster in the 200

Marin's Amateur In Fast Company

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Gary Player said flatly that he was going to win it. Arnold Palmer said he is still very much in contention. Bert Yancey said he was going to hang on to his lead.

Jack Nicklaus said goodbye.

Nicklaus, the 210-pound Ohio strongboy who set the Masters record with a 271 two years ago, set another—in reverse — yesterday when he failed to make the cut for the last two rounds of the 31st Masters Golf Tournament.

(Ron Cerrudo, amateur from San Rafael, eluded the cut—barely.

(Cerrudo, who had an opening day round of 76, got better yesterday by coming in with a 73 for a two-day total of 149, two under the cutoff of 151. He was tied with Ken Venturi and was one stroke ahead of San Francisco amateur John Miller.

(Once again Cerrudo was troubled by his putting.

("I lipped every putt I hit," he said, "and they just wouldn't drop. And by the last four holes, I was so nervous figuring I might miss the cut, I didn't know what to do.")

Nicklaus' shocking 79, with nine bogeys, giving him 151 for two rounds over the lush, sweltering Augusta National Course, represented one of the great collapses in golfing history and eliminated his last chance of making the Ryder Cup team.

"Everything I did was wrong," Nicklaus said after he became the first defending champion who failed to make the cut.

"But I've had pretty good luck here before," said the man who was shooting for an unprecedented third straight Masters' title. "Maybe it's about time I started having some bad luck."

Yancey, the former West Pointer who led by three strokes the first day, said he had some bad luck, too.

"I was playing well enough to increase my lead, not decrease it," he said after an erratic round of five pars, six birdies and seven bogeys.

That gave him a 73 for 140 and a one stroke lead over

A College Lesson For Juan

By JACK STEVENSON

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — When you want a lesson, go to college.

Juan Marichal tabbed by the San Francisco Giants as the best pitcher in baseball, presented his dossier to the University of Santa Clara Broncos and receipted for two home runs yesterday at Santa Clara.

Nominated to work the Giants' National League opener at St. Louis Tuesday, Marichal worked seven innings as San Francisco downed the collegians 7-3 in his final tune-up yesterday.

FUENTES REPORTS

Shortstop Tito Fuentes reports today following recuperation in Casa Grande, Ariz., where he tried to strengthen the left ankle injured three weeks ago.

Even if he gets the green light from medics, Tito won't start Tuesday. Jim Davenport, who singled to start one San Francisco scoring burst yesterday and then hit a three-run homer, will get the nod.

Fuentes' injury also insured a varsity job for Cesar Gutierrez, a rookie shortstop from Venezuela who played with Fresno last year. Davenport will need rest and injury-prone Fuentes remains questionable.

MARIN LEAGUE'S LEADING SHOTMAKERS

former PGA champion Bobby Nichols, Gay Brewer, 47-year-old, two-time U.S. Open champion Julius Boros and 22-year-old English pro, Tony Jacklin.

George Archer, who had yesterday's best round at 67, was alone at 142, while Tommy Aaron and Doug Ford were bracketed at 143.

Player, the little South African who won the Masters in 1961, is at 144 along with Paul Harney, Australian Bruce Devlin and current U.S. Open champ Billy Casper.

Player, who shot a three-under-par 69 despite bogeys on the last two holes, said he was in very good position.

"I'll win it," he predicted. "It should take two rounds of 68 to do it, and I can shoot two rounds of 68."

He complained bitterly of the deep grass on the fairways. "It makes the ball fly. You can't guess what's going to happen. I overdrove 10 greens, and I don't do that in 30 normal tournaments."

Palmer, the only four-time champion, said he wasted a lot of shots, wasn't playing particularly well but still felt he had a chance at it after his second straight 73 for 146.

"I'm still just six shots back," the muscular Pennsylvanian said. "I can make that up. I thought there might be a lot of real good rounds out there. I'm grateful to the boys there weren't more and I'm still this close."

WILL HANG ON

Yancey admitted "I'd feel more comfortable if I had about six more shots on Arnie," but added that "nothing's going to change. I'm going to hang on."

"There's always next year," said Nicklaus, who missed the cut by one stroke.

There were 13 sub-par rounds yesterday, accentuating the troubles encountered by Yancey, Palmer and Nicklaus.

"I just didn't play well," Palmer said. "With even a normal round — without doing anything at all outstanding — I should have had a 70."

"I guess it was kind of up and down," said Yancey, "but I really didn't hit a bad shot until I was on 12." By that time he had had four bogeys and three birdies.

"Some days are like that," Nicklaus said.

In all, 55 players made the cut for the last two rounds, which will be televised nationally by CBS-TV starting at 2 p.m., PST today and at 1 p.m. PST tomorrow.

Seals Draw Blank, Try Luck At Home

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Seattle goalie Jimmy McLeod's 30th birthday present from his Totem teammates was a big fat 0 and he couldn't have been happier.

McLeod, leading netminder in the Western Hockey League, got all the help he needed from Guyler Fielder, the league's leading point maker, as Seattle posted a 4-0 win over California in their semifinal playoff game last night at Seattle. The Totems lead the best-of-seven series 2-0.

They resume play tomorrow at the Oakland Arena starting at 2:30 p.m.

While veterans showed their skill at Seattle, rookie Bob Jones showed his mettle at Vancouver to give the Canucks a 3-2 overtime victory over Portland's Buckaroos. It was the second overtime win for the Canucks, who lead the regular season champs 2-0 in their semifinal series.

"I really felt good. But it was a real team effort," McLeod said, after making 22 saves for the shutoue.

Both the Totems and the Seals did an outstanding job of killing off penalties — sometimes when they were two men short. With the power play stalled, Seattle turned to muscle and finesse.

Fielder, who scored two goals, got what proved to be the winner in the second period. He broke down the middle on a three-on-one break, faked to his wingers, then ripped home a 15-foot shot.

Jones fired in the winner for Vancouver with 49 seconds gone in the overtime. He was also instrumental in Vancouver's 2-1 win Wednesday when his goal sent the game into overtime.

Marin Prep, Junior College Sports Washed Down Drain

Somebody in the Marin County Athletic League and at College of Marin is not doing his share in the Sunday collection box.

Rain, and even dots of hail thrown in for good measure, played ominous havoc with the Marin athletic schedule again yesterday, washing out all but one of the scheduled outdoor meets, games and matches.

Only swimming meets, of course, and Redwood High School's tennis match at Vallejo survived the wholesale wipeout.

The Giants whitewashed, that is to say blanked, Vallejo 5-0, and at that, it was just enough to keep in practice, being only their third meet. In singles play Ward Johnson, Dave Walter and Greg Leininger all won, as did the doubles teams of Jay Sweet-Dave Slocum and Parker Hand-Doug Granum.

But it was back to the scheduling board for the remainder of the events including what was to be the gala opening of the 1967 MCAL baseball season.

Postponed to some future dry date were Novato at Terra Linda, Drake at Marin Catholic and San Rafael at Redwood.

Down the busy drainpipe too went the College of Marin triangular track meet at Santa Rosa against the host Bearcubs and Napa. It, and the squeak-in 440 relay event won by the Tars, was to have been run again today.

In addition, some MCAL track meets were postponed. They were Drake at Novato and Marin Catholic at Terra Linda as well as a Tam meeting with Santa Rosa at Santa Rosa, which was to be run today.

College of Marin's tennis match with Shasta was postponed indefinitely.

Wills Defies N. L. Edict

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

PORTSMOUTH, Va. — Maury Wills now leads the National League in disobedience.

The base-stealing ex-Los Angeles Dodger vowed yesterday to disobey an order from National League President Warren Giles by continuing to wear his special new baseball shoes.

Giles reportedly has given Wills until the opening day to stop using the shoes, which are similar to track shoes and have no triangular metal plates such as conventional baseball shoes.

"I'm going to keep on wearing them," Wills said. "They'll have to take them off me."

After defying a Dodger edict to remain with the team on its Japanese tour last winter, Wills was promptly traded to Pittsburgh.

Novato got off to a good start against balanced Terra Linda by winning the 200 medley relay but the Trojans swept the next three events and eventually squeaked by, despite a 53.8 winning job by Roger Backstedt in the 100 freestyle, breaking his own Novato mark of 54.2 set last year.

Football's 'Pope Paul' Has Seen The Light

SALISBURY, N.C.—The scene was Ft. Lauderdale, Fla., where the youth of America was in full flower and ex-football player Loren Young looked at the young man as if he were a goal line fumble.

There he lounged, a bottle of beer in one hand, beard on chin, sandals on dirty feet, eyes bloodshot, lice in hair and maggots in mind. "Help Stamp Out Virginity," read the lettering on his greasy sweatshirt.

YOUNG COULD have snapped his head off with one hand, but he stopped solicitously. "Young fellow," he asked, "didn't you have a mother?"

The young man was startled. He sized Young up. A man wearing a shirt, tie, a shave, and shoes was as incomprehensible to him as a man from Mars. So were the man's beliefs.

"WHAT," YOUNG persisted, "if you had a daughter some day and one evening a young man came to pick her up for a date? Would you be proud to trot out that sweater and give it to him to take along?"

If he had an answer, in short, he didn't dare offer it.

LOREN YOUNG went about his business—which, it so happens, is regional secretary of the Fellowship of Christian Athletes. These are a national band of young people who believe that if Christ were alive today he would not likely be wearing a beard, and that he might not necessarily be wearing shoulder pads, but might be encouraging other young people to do so.

THE RECOUNTER of the antidote about Young and the bearded giveup he saw on the street at Ft. Lauderdale was football coach Paul Dietzel, and the rest of the story, according to Paul — if not Peter, Matthew, Mark and Luke—has it that the bearded one later looked up Loren Young to say, "I want to thank you for bringing me to my senses. If my father had talked to me the way you did, you might not have found me where you did."

PAUL DIETZEL, it so happens, has a vested interest in collegiate athletics, but he has come to believe in intramural religion, too. "Pepsodent Paul," the renegade coaches whose teams he has beaten, 40-0, call him. "Pope Paul," a ribald rival scorns him.

PAUL COMES into focus as a two-time contract jumper, but his sincerity was unmistakable as he addressed the breakfast conference of the National Assn. Sportscasters in this sunny Carolina city the other morning.

There have been a great many successful football players who didn't entirely believe in God. There have been some who didn't believe in country — or in Yale.

BUT PAUL DIETZEL believes athletics are the last best hope of a generation gone into general retreat. The proposal has opened a serious question, considering that collegiate football is as hard to get into as a secret society, and the only gymnastics it affords the main student body is an exercise in tonsils. An enrollment of 20,000 can hardly better its physical condition — or moral condition —exhorting a team of 40 once a week for two months in autumn.

But Paul Dietzel believes it is the concept — the glorification of a fullback instead of a fallout, a dropkick instead of a dropout, a forward-passer instead of a back-slider — that is important.

A MAN WHO wears a cross in his lapel to go with the full-toothed smile, Paul Dietzel admits he did not always think so. God slickered him into the tent, so to speak.

It was a Methodist chaplin with the improbable name of "Pat" Murphy who was Paul's apostle. He had met Paul in the South Pacific in World War II and invited him to come to meet him at his church in Cincinnati after the war. He put Paul in a pulpit, and Dietzel found himself, to his surprise, delivering a locker-room speech for God. A newsman overheard it, printed it — and the next thing Paul Dietzel knew, he found himself forced to play left tackle for a team he had always thought of as a cross-town rival —Christianity.

HE BEGAN first to like his teammates — and then the coach. He had a lot of good football players at Louisiana State U. one year but the one line they never cracked was the one at the communion rail on Sunday. They had a player who was not only All-American but all-evil. They wanted to kick him off the squad. "But he's born leader!" one assistant protested. "So was Al Capone!" retorted another.

Dietzel did without his All-American, but grew closer to his Almighty. His posture earns him a good deal of skeptism at South Carolina where he now coaches, particularly with his record for driving out of town in new Cadillacs the alumni has just presented him.

BUT HIS proposition is hard to argue: Would you rather have your son at Ft. Lauderdale stamping out virginity —or at Yale stamping out Harvard, or at Notre Dame stamping out ties? Or — put another way — if your son gets a varsity letter on his sweater, do you want it to read "Stamp Out Virginity," or would you rather have "National Champions 1974"?

Golf Vultures Have Feast At Masters

By WILL GRIMSLEY

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — They are golf's vultures.

They plant themselves at the 12th hole at Augusta National, munch sandwiches and chortle with sadistic glee as disaster tumbles on the shoulders of the Masters stars.

It is the shortest hole on the course — 155 yards — and the most dramatic. It's the hole where everything happens — usually bad.

And the fans love it.

"I wouldn't miss it for the world," said Helen Weeks, a housewife from Sumter, S.C. She lets her husband wander over the course but she stays fixed on the hillside overlooking awesome No. 12.

"I just love to watch them go into the water," she added.

The hole is called the Golden Bell. It is a par three with a tight, hour-glass green. It is covered by water in front. There's a steep bank back of the green. A trap is at the front right and two are carved into the bank at the back.

In a low hollow, the green is whipped by gusty, tricky winds, making accuracy almost impossible.

Instead of apple blossoms and magnolia blooming in the back, it should be shrouded with funeral wreaths.

It is the Hole of Despair.

Former Masters champion Claude Harmon plunked his tee shot into the drink.

"That's No. 4," said George Smith of Cairo, Ga., keeping score on a big tab. There would be a dozen more marks on George's slate before the day was done, and George would be happy.

"Oh, look," exclaimed Mrs. Sam McFarland of Turbeville, S.C. "Art Wall has lost his ball."

Wall, approaching the green two-under-par, had put his tee shot into the heavy thicket back of the green.

"Shucks," mumbled a neighbor. "They found it."

A rumble of disappointment swept the crowd gathered on the small hill, forming a natural amphitheater.

Gay Brewer, two under through 11 holes, contributed to the day's joy by four-putting from the edge. Tom Bolt hit one into the mud, got on the edge of the green and then putted into a trap. He wound up with a six.

The sadists couldn't hide their delight.

This is the most popular area on the famous course. Two stands are usuall almost fully occupied. The hillside is covered with picnic-style spectators.

They don't want to miss a shot. They bring their lunches and stay there from morning until night.

"I wouldn't miss it for the world," said Hayward Morgan, a construction and theater man from Greenville, S.C.

"It's so much fun to watch the balls go into the water."

"It's the climactic hole of the Masters — which brings either triumph or disaster.

It almost cost Jack Nicklaus the tournament in 1963. But it won for Arnold Palmer in 1960 when a ball embedded in the bank and a favorable ruling gave him a free lift — a three instead of a five.

Harmon aced the hole in 1947 and Bill Hyndman in 1959. Once Sam Snead hit a ball into the water and then chipped into the cup. Dow Finsterwald took 11 strokes there in 1951.

The vultures got one of their biggest charges last year when Doug Sanders, dapperly attired in bright orange, almost fell into the water.

"I never felt more sadistic in my life," said Mrs. Richard Rendleman of Salisbury, N.C. "I wanted him to fall all the way in, orange shoes and all."

Schollander Surprises Buckingham

DALLAS (AP) — It was a repetition of history — in reverse — last night when Don Schollander of Yale, hero of the 1964 Olympics but not doing very well of late, beat his arch rival, Greg Buckingham of the Santa Clara Swim Club, in the 200-yard freestyle of the National AAU Indoor Swimming Championships.

In the NCAA meet, Buckingham had whipped Schollander but the latter was ill and not up to par.

Last night the shoe was on the other foot. Buckingham was returning to action after missing the first night of the AAU because of food poisoning.

Buckingham said the illness had not affected him. He showed it by doing 1:42.2, just a half-second over the record.

Schollander though swam it in 1:41.2 to set an American and AAU record by a half-second, and he had his revenge over Buckingham, whom he beat by a length.

Don, the only swimmer ever to win four gold medals in the Olympic Games, will go after his second victory today when he tries in the 100-yard freestyle.

THREE RECORDS

Last night produced three records in six events.

Mike Spitz of Santa Clara won the 200-yard butterfly in a record 1:50.6.

The other record came in the 400-yard freestyle relay and Schollander anchored his team to victory and an American record of 3:06.5.

He outdueled Zack Zorn, anchor man for the Los Angeles Athletic Club, which was second just one-tenth of a second over Yale's record-breaking time.

Ken Merten of Southern Methodist won the 100-yard breaststroke in 58.9.

Fred Haywood of Santa Clara won the 100-yard backstroke in 52.6.

Dick Roth of the Santa Clara Swim Club took the 400-yard individual medley in 4:09.5 to repeat as champion.

Indiana University shot into the lead in the team battle with 49 points. Santa Clara Swim Club was second with 42 and Yale third with 32.

Dick Smith Swim Club of Phoenix, Ariz., was next with 25, a point ahead of Southern California.

Ailing 76er Aces Will Play Sunday

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Wilt Chamberlain and Hal Greer, the devastating outside-inside punch of the Philadelphia 76ers, were among the walking wounded yesterday—but both are expected to play tomorrow against the Boston Celtics for the Eastern Division championship of the National Basketball Association.

A 76ers spokesman said the pair had limited practice yesterday—Chamberlain hobbled by severe pains in both knee joints and Greer troubled by a sore throat.

Dr. Stanley Lorber, team doctor, called Chamberlain's problem "inflammation of joint capsules of the knees," and said he was unable to run hard, and even walking down steps troubled the 7-foot-1 superstar.

The illness originally was diagnosed as shin splints from practicing on the hard floor of the Palestra last week.

Lorber said that Chamberlain will get heat treatments in Boston Saturday in preparation for game No. 4 in the best-of-seven series. The 76ers have a hammerlock 3-0 lead and need but one to wrap it up.

As for Greer, Lorber said he was in a little better shape, though feeling tired. Greer, leading scorer in the series with a 27.7 average, took only a few shots Friday before leaving for home and bed rest.

Tomorrow's game will be nationally televised by ABC (Channel 7) at 11 a.m., PST.

Aqueduct Races Cancelled; Trouble For Legislators

NEW YORK (AP) — Aqueduct remained closed today, and its idleness was causing activity among the state's legislators which could become more frantic than bettors whose horse has been disqualified after finishing first.

The big track shut down Wednesday when owners refused to enter horses in protest over legislative failure to increase purses.

For a time yesterday, it looked like racing activity would resume today with a unique one-race card.

George D. Widener entered Ring Twice and the Jaclyn Stable of Dr. Leon Levy entered Model Fool in the $50,000-added Excelsior Handicap, and the New York Racing Association announced a one-race program would be held.

But later in the day, NYRA President Edward T. Dickinson issued the following statement:

"There will be no racing at Aqueduct Saturday due to the fact that both entries for the Excelsior Handicap were withdrawn by their owners because they felt no useful purpose would be served."

Meanwhile, activity stepped up on the legislative front.

Senate Minority Leader Joseph Zaretski, a Democrat, said he expects Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller to call a special session of the Legislature to resolve the boycott.

Democratic State Senator Seymour Thaler called on the State Racing Commission to replace the "19 millionaires" who are NYRA trustees because the trustees not only run the tracks and fix purses, but they also run their own horses and win most of the purses.

Today is Saturday, April 8, the 98th day of 1967 with 267 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Jupiter.

American actress Mary Pickford was born on this day in 1893.

On this day in history:

In 1513, Ponce de Leon, in his search for the fountain of youth, landed in what is now St. Augustine, Fla.

In 1917, Austria and Hungary severed diplomtic relations with the United States.

In 1952, President Truman seized the steel industry to ward off a general strike.

A thought for the day:

American statesman Benjamin Franklin once said: "He that goes a borrowing goes a sorrowing."

College Students Get Advanced Lesson in Defensive Signaling

The correct way to play a hand depends not only on the cards you hold but also on how high you have bid.

Many college students learned their lesson last month in the annual intercollegiate championships.

Opening lead — ♡ K

South ruffed the opening heart lead, led a diamond to dummy's king, cleared the ace of clubs out of the way and got back to his hand by ruffing a heart.

Declarer then drew another round of trumps with the ace.

South now had two trumps left, and there were two trumps still out.

If each opponent had one trump, South could give up one trump trick and take the rest.

If the contract were six diamonds, South would make this play and keep his fingers crossed.

This play would be madness, however, if the contract were only five diamonds.

South could be sure of eleven tricks if he abandoned trumps and simply led his high clubs.

TAKE TWO TRUMPS

No matter how trumps were divided the defenders could take their two trumps, but nothing else.

East would eventually ruff a club and return a heart to make South ruff.

South would continue the clubs to make East ruff again.

Declarer would still have a trump to regain the lead.

If South led a third round of trumps on the actual hand, East would take two trump tricks, drawing the rest of South's trumps.

The defenders would then lead hearts and spades, keeping South out of his hand and collecting a penalty of several hundred points.

Glass By Acre For New Building

CHICAGO (UPI) —Six acres of glass, enough to cover more than five football fields, will be required for the 7,000 windows of the new First National Bank of Chicago headquarters building, now under construction.

The 60-story tapered skyscraper in the heart of Chicago's Loop is scheduled for completion in early 1969.

San Jose Priest's Slayers Sentenced

SAN JOSE (AP) — Three San Jose teen-agers were sentenced yesterday to life in prison for the Memorial Day slayings last year of the Rev. John D. Cox, Millbrae Catholic priest, and Eugene Silva, San Jose warehouseman.

Both were beaten fatally and robbed in separate assaults.

Another youth was sent to prison for second degree murder, and two others were committed to the California Youth Authority, also for second degree murder.

Jack Brito, 17, received two life sentences. He pleaded guilty in the Silva slaying, and guilty to first degree murder in the priest's death.

Jose H. Gonzales was sentenced to life for first degree murder.

Anthony Esposito, 17, received a life term. He pleaded guilty to the Silva slaying.

Anthony Virgil Jr., 17, received a five-year to life term on a second degree charges in the case of Father Cox.

Andrew Santana, 18, and Randy Sandoval, 17, pleaded guilty to second degree murder in the death of the priest, and were committed to the CYA.

Gonzales was convicted of murder last month by a jury, which also convicted him of conspiracy to commit robbery, conspiracy to commit grand theft, and robbery.

Before he sentenced Gonzales, Superior Court Judge John T. Racanelli told him, "Thus far you haven't done anything right. You have transgressed most tragically beyond anything that society can allow. You will have much time to consider your conduct. Perhaps you can salvage something of your life."

Gonzales was accused of kicking the priest to the ground when he tried to rise as he was being beaten with an iron pipe by Brito.

Extortion Trial Over To Tuesday

Jury trial of Mrs. Willie Marie Fritz, 46, of Ross, charged with three counts of extortion and a fourth of attempted extortion, was continued in Marin Superior Court yesterday until 10 a.m. Tuesday.

Further testimony by Mrs. Fritz is scheduled then. Joseph M. Walker of Walker-Built Homes Inc., Berkeley, has alleged she extorted over $138,000 from him by threatening to expose their intimate relationship to his wife and business associates.

She said yesterday she is on county welfare, and her home is mortgaged. She also testified she never intended to reveal their relationship.

Per capita income in British Honduras is $238.

Landmark Society To Recall Quake

The first three rows of the Reed School auditorium, Tiburon, will be reserved for "people who were around at the time of the earthquake," during the Belvedere-Tiburon Landmarks Society lecture, April 18 at 8 p.m., according to Mrs. Beverly Bastian, president.

"The Way It Was," anecdotes on the San Francisco earthquake and fire of 1906, will be given by Bert Werder, 84, of Redwood City, who was a ships engineer living in San Francisco with his wife and child while awaiting a ship assignment when the quake struck on April 18, 1906.

The event, scheduled on the anniversary date of the holocaust, is the second in the Landmarks Society series. Mrs. Anne de Martini is chairman.

The Home That Looks Like A School

COVER PHOTO

AN EASY blend of rustic charm and functional efficiency is this Reedland Woods structure on the Tiburon Peninsula that looks very much like an attractive modern-day schoolhouse, but is in actuality the residence of William and Heather Clute. It was built by Lawrence C. Olin from an original design for a difficult site by architect Joseph Drosihn.

(Photo by Roy Flamm)

VIEWED FROM ANY angle, the "schoolhouse" home at Reedland Woods has a bold and airy look that speaks of the manner in which strength and simplicity have been blended in the design. The appearance is completely harmonious with the openness of the surroundings. It was—and looks like—a labor of love.

'Schoolhouse' Design Makes Cozy Home

Charm of Yesteryear Blended With Todays' Functionality

By LAURA DEVENDORF

The warmth and charm of yesterday can blend sympathetically with the excitement and functional design of architecture today. It's happening in a picturesque country valley in Tiburon.

At the far end of Reed Ranch Road, Reedland Woods is a new community of architecturally designed, custom homes which are as homogeneous with their rustic setting as they are individual in themselves. They are strong, yet they are natural, which is precisely the concept the development's sole builder, Lawrence C. Olin, has in mind.

"People like houses they feel comfortable in. A home should not be commonplace nor should it be impersonal. Yet, while remaining strongly individual, each home should have an easy relationship with adjacent ones as well as the land it is on."

FURTHER, OLIN believes that a home "should have a certain dignity with interior spaces that appeal to and excite the imagination. It must also provide for the fact that the family is a changing entity; that a family matures and a house must be able to mature with it."

This was the challenging concept Olin presented to architect Joseph Drosihn, the result of which is the Reedland Woods' "schoolhouse," now the residence of Mr. and Mrs. William Clute.

In this particular case the challenge was made even greater by the proposed location, a difficult corner lot with houses flanking both sides.

DROSIHN LEFT to work it out in the seclusion of his farm near St. Helena. Three days later he came back and without a word, laid the preliminary drawings for his contemporary "schoolhouse" design on Olin's desk.

In 10 seconds he had the go-ahead, a record in any case but especially in view of the radical design. The radical aspects have never been discussed. The point for both architect and builder was that the "schoolhouse" idea was right.

Few outsiders, however, understood its promise. Until the finishing stages there seemed to be a unified cry of "too unorthodox!" from real estate offices and builders alike. But from its inception, the schoolhouse became a labor of love for everyone who worked on it.

THE CREW displayed tremendous pride and by the time it reached the very tricky roof construction, the foreman, Hugo Scotto, was so involved he sent his workmen on to other jobs and spent weeks handcutting and sawing each beam himself.

The result was a valid answer in every way to the original concept — a home that is natural and livable yet strong and original in design. Outside, its rustic shake and siding are completely sympathetic with the rocky, tree-studded landscape.

From any angle it is delightful to view, its charm highlighted by the quaint spired cupola on top.

BUT IN KEEPING with sound contemporary design, the cupola itself is more than mere decoration. Inside, it is the functional and esthetic focal point of the entire house, the skylighted apex of an open two-and-a-half story central hall well which forms the core of the schoolhouse plan. Rooms on both floors surround it, an entry hall, living room, dining room, family room, kitchen, bedroom and bath downstairs, and three more bedrooms and a bath on the floor above.

Esthetically, the cupola provides much of the sense of change and excitement you feel as you move from room to room — but not all. Drosihn has designed all the interior spaces so that this swing of moods happens also within the rooms themselves.

In the living room, for example, the fireplace seating area is nestled snugly below a heavy low-beamed ceiling. As you move from under it the ceiling sweeps upward an awesome two stories, its rough-sawn timbers angling up to a peak atop a huge carved post.

A DISTINCTIVELY sculptured post not only serves its architectural purpose, but becomes an arresting conversation piece when seen complete from the living room. Under low beams at left is a massive fireplace wall and seating area.

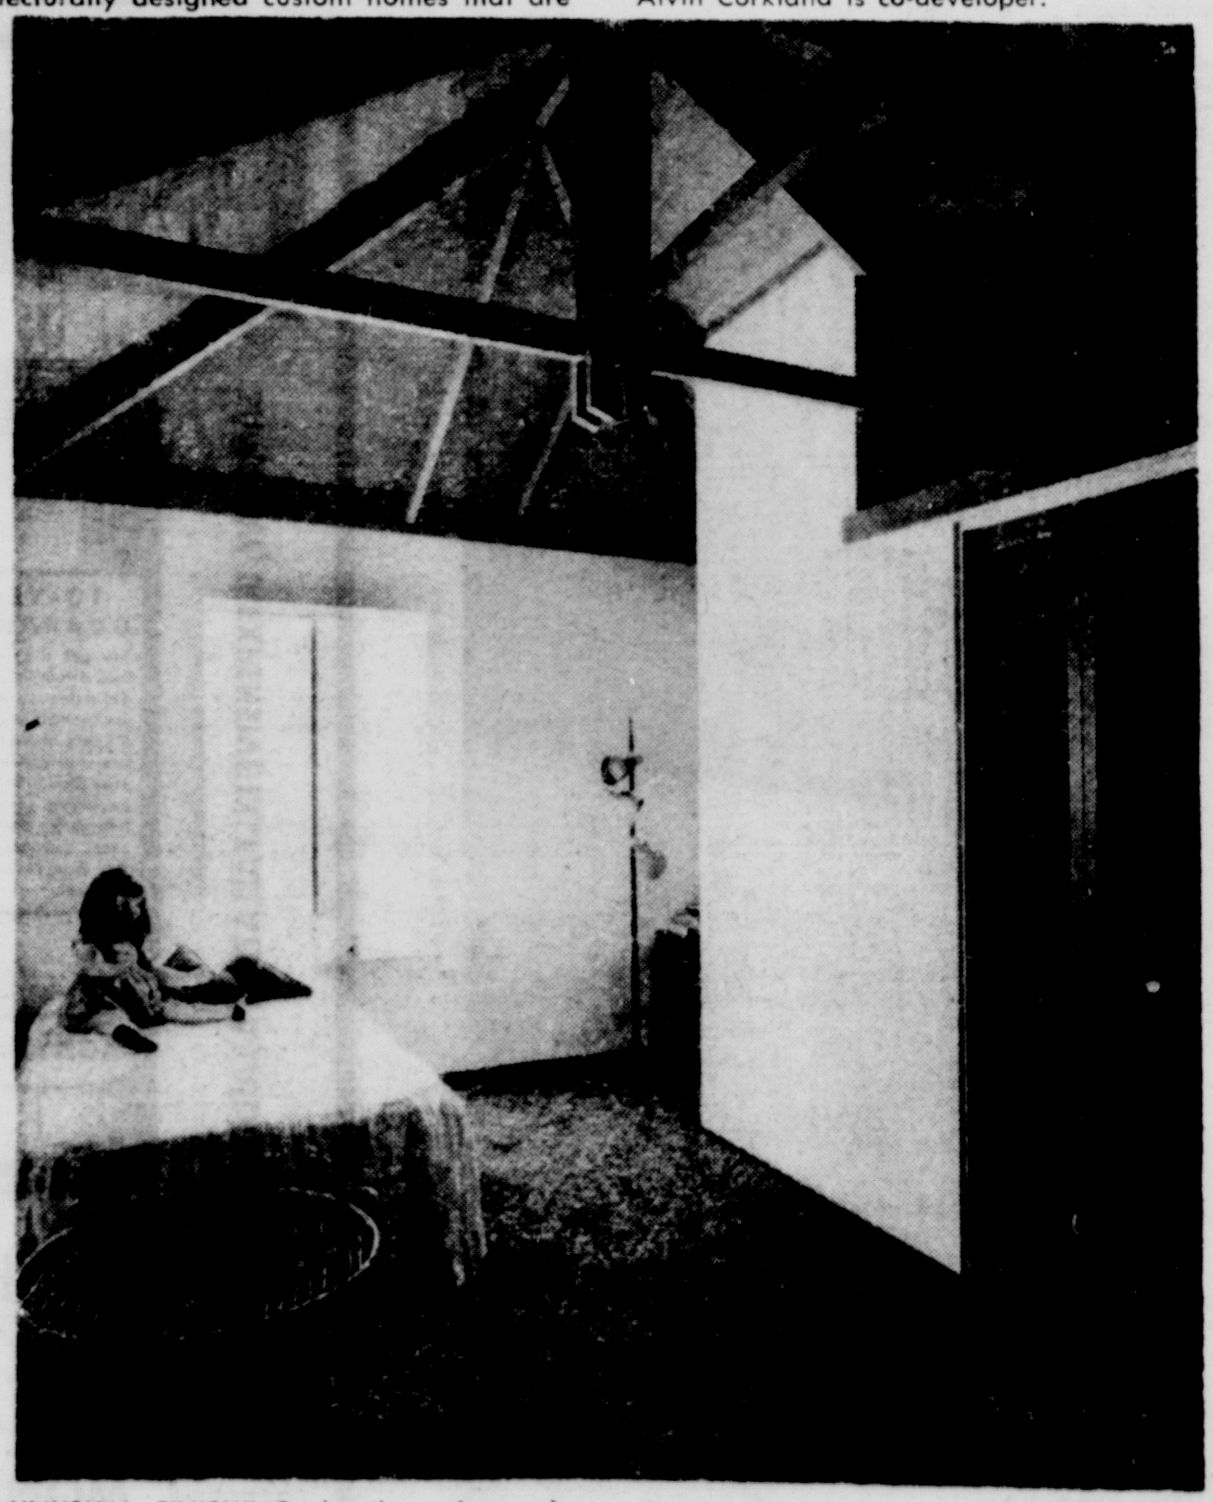
BUILDER Lawrence C. Olin's Reedland Woods concept is to develop a community of architecturally designed custom homes that are distinctive—yet natural. "Houses that people feel comfortable in" is the way he puts it. Alvin Corkland is co-developer.



UNUSUAL FINISHING details such as the rough angled beam seen here add unexpected points of interest throughout the home. The variations in ceiling height increase the sense of space and make the home seem far larger than its actual 2,530 square feet of floor space.

A House Built For Comfort

support. But Drosihn designed it into a unique and striking accent, just one of many such unusual touches that surprise and delight the eye throughout. Where beams join walls, details are rough and bold while the railings around the second floor well are carefully polished and dowelled into the handrail the way fine furniture is made.

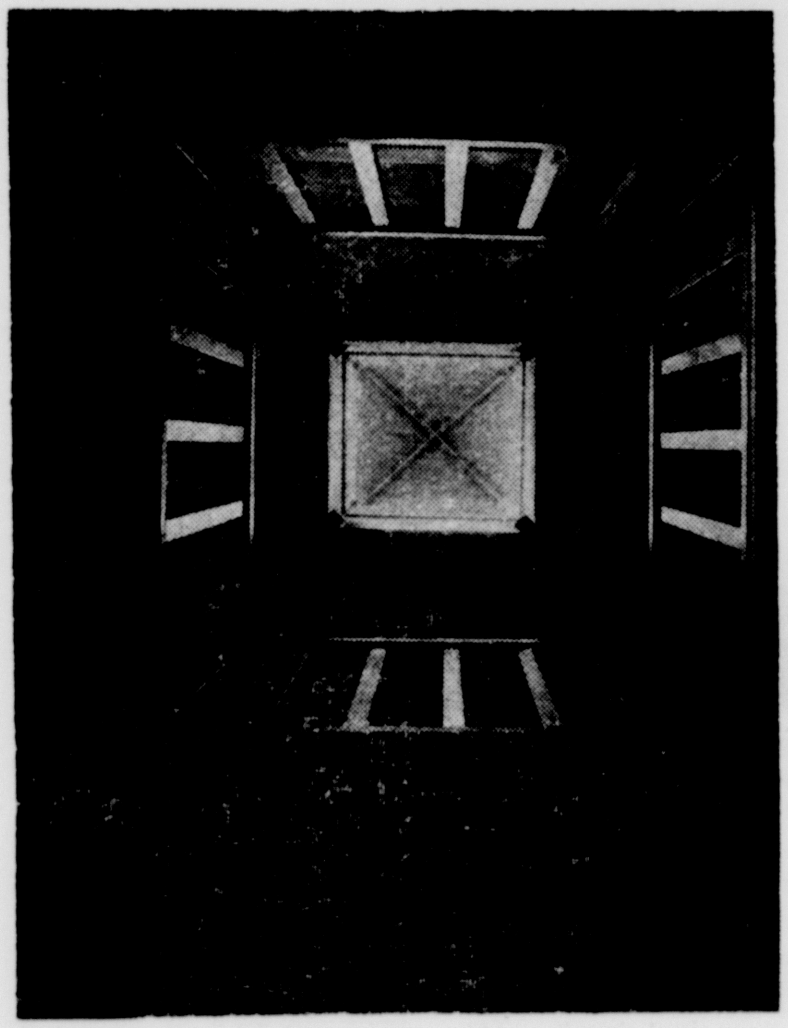
Even the floors are a further expansion of the idea. Loopy textured carpeting from the upper story and stairs meets harmoniously with the warm browns of the entry hall's Welch quarry tile. This in turn opens into the intricate patterns of uneven, richly-dark parquet and planked wood flooring used in the rest of the downstairs.

Indeed, the "schoolhouse" is an over-all harmony of contrasts — of new ideas spun from old. It tastefully combines the craftsmanship, solidity and warmth of yesterday with the imaginative use of space, materials and technology of today.

AS A HOME it is an interesting answer to the challenge that people want houses that are different, yet personal — that are distinctive yet blend with their setting — that are functional, yet have dignity.

Or, to rephrase builder Olin, ". . . houses they feel comfortable in."

THE POLISHED simplicity of the stairwell railings offer a pleasant contrast to the massive, rough-sawn ceilings. Soft white walls offer a proper balance to paneled doors and sculpted post.



MUCH LIKE an abstract painting, the central well of the "schoolhouse" home rises from the lower floor to the top of the cupola, forming a focal point for the entire house. Along with texture and design, it provides light at both levels of the home.

The Capture Of Bill Ross

Careless Search Could Have Cost Two Lives

By DR. LEO L. STANLEY

"I guess you fellows would like to have my gun."

That very surprising statement came from Bill Ross, the convicted murderer riding beside me in a Model T Ford, and it caused me to pull off to the side of the road and to slam on the brakes.

Ross had escaped from a road camp in Mendocino County. We had come upon him unexpectedly and managed to capture him in his hiding place beneath a water tank.

NOW WE WERE returning him to San Quentin. I was driving. And behind me and the prisoner rode prison guard Emil Coret with a loaded rifle that he occasionally poked into Ross' back, just to let him know that he was there and alert.

It was in 1916 that the California State Legislature had passed bills permitting convicts to be used in the construction of the state highways.

One of the first camps to house such workers had been built near Lane's Flat on the Eel River on what is now scenic and heavily traveled Redwood Highway 101. It was then far mountainous and remote, so that removed from civilization, the inmates would not be in contact with "outsiders."

CORET AND I had gone to the campsite to look over the prisoners and recommend health and sanitary measures. We had taken our rifles along only because we had arranged to spend a few days hunting deer.

It was while we were there that a prisoner, Bill Ross, serving time for first degree murder, slipped from the camp and disappeared into the wilderness.

He was a bad one, but he had so conducted himself in prison that he had earned credits for an early parole, and, as a "good risk," had been assigned to the road camp.

APPARENTLY, Bill decided he could not await that parole and decided to hurry things.

Peace officers were alerted and a search was made for him, but no trace of the missing man was uncovered.

Our stay at the camp over, Coret and I had stowed our rifles in the car and, with him lazing in the back seat, I began driving us homeward.

We were about six miles south of Santa Rosa and moving along as fast as the dirt roads of that time would permit. Glancing from the roadway, I saw seated under a watering tank and partially concealed by bushes, a

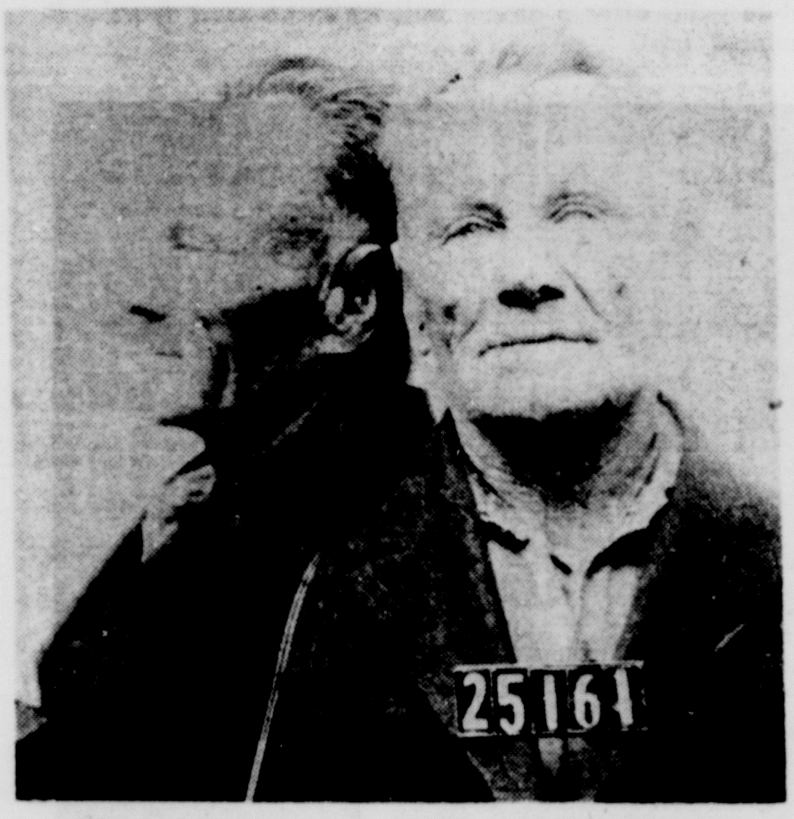
THIS ROAD CAMP on the Eel River in Mendocino County was the first to be established in 1916 after the California State Legislature authorized the use of state prison inmates in building state highways. It was from there that convicted murderer Bill Ross made his escape.



DESPITE A conviction for first degree murder and a reputation as a hardboiled convict, Bill Ross was rated a safe subject for the enwly created road camp program.

"Shouldn't My Cleaner Guarantee Against Color Change?"

Your drycleaner cannot guarantee fabrics against color change when being drycleaned, unless the item carries with it a guarantee of colorfastness when purchased. If a material is labeled "colorfast" and fades badly, the customer can return it to the store where she made the purchase and demand an adjustment.

Oftentimes a fabric returns from the drycleaner several shades lighter than when it was sent because much soil has been removed. It is possible, too, that color will change with passage of time.

Color will change from the alcohol in perfume and cologne. Hair bleaches will cause color loss. Anti-perspirants, deodorants and perspiration build up chemical conditions which discolor and weaken fabrics. Sunlight, too, acts as a bleach.

So your drycleaner cannot guarantee against changes in color in drycleaning. While the majority of fabrics can be drycleaned safely, some cannot, and some fabrics are altered in drycleanability by wear and soil. Your professional drycleaner can advise you expertly, but there are too many factors over which he has no control which prevents a "guarantee" against color change.

A MISTAKE THAT MIGHT HAVE COST HIM HIS LIFE

MY SUSPICIONS were aroused. I stopped quickly and backed up the Model T to a point opposite the tank. Without leaving the car, I motioned for the man to come to me. He obeyed, evidently thinking someone was offering him a ride.

Then, as he put his foot on the running board, he recognized me in spite of a week's growth of beard and my crude hunting clothes. He jumped back. But in those days I had the quick reflexes of youth. Like a cat, I pounced on him. He tripped and fell to the ground with me on top of him.

Quickly Coret uncased his rifle and held Bill Ross at bay. Then we allowed him to get to his feet, and I frisked him for hidden weapons, finding only some dried prunes and a few slices of bread in his pockets.

WITH HIM AS an added passenger, we headed as rapidly as I could drive for San Quentin.

We had been on the road for half an hour when he shocked us with his matter-of-fact remark about his gun.

Yes, indeed, we assured him, we would very much like to have his gun.

So we stopped again, and ordered him to emerge from the car with hands raised. While Coret covered him with the rifle, I made another and more careful search.

THERE, RIGHT in the center of his back, thrust under his shirt and trouser waistband between his two hip pockets, was a six-shooter, fully loaded. It was the biggest pistol I had ever seen.

The incident brought home to me just how very easily a bit of carelessness on the part of a peace officer can cost him his life. My first search had been far too hasty and inexpert.

Had Emil Coret not kept his rifle pointed at the prisoner and his eyes on his every move, Bill Ross might easily have added the two of us to a long list of victims who failed to search their captives thoroughly.

And I would not have been here, many years later, to tell this story.

A Marinite's Parting With An Heirloom

Lincoln Portrait In Unusual Frame Gets A New Home

By DON KEOWN

Parting with a family heirloom is always a painful experience.

And the pangs are felt all the more deeply when the object being relinquished is of historical significance and value.

William E. Burch of 977 Butterfield Road, Sleepy Hollow, suffered such a loss recently when he gave up possession of a framed portrait of Abraham Lincoln.

WHILE THE picture itself was a handsome reproduction of a black and white engraving of the Great Emancipator, it was the frame that held the greater collector interest.

E. A. J. Casassa of San Anselmo, appraiser of fine arts and antiques, evaluated it in 1964 as "an attractive and valuable rare historical object made of carefully selected and seasoned cedar wood and consisting of 150 separate pieces.

"The pine wood backing is carefully selected, seasoned and hand-beveled. Original brasses are hand-wrought. These brasses are two rings and anchor post."

THE FRAME, Casassa found, was the work of a professional, master craftsman woodcarver "of great artistic skill."

"Each of 150 pieces were individually carved by hand, and no two pieces are alike. The entire frame came from one original piece of cedar wood."

"And," went on Casassa, "this amazingly expert craftsman probably possessed the secret of a method of flexible meshed and mortised tenon joint assembly that is now a lost art."

Burch says the history of the frame and the picture it enclosed were shrouded in some mystery.

"I REMEMBER seeing the Lincoln picture and frame in my grandmother's home in Chicago in the early 1900s," he says.

"Later, it hung in my mother's living room in Evanston. I have owned it since her death in 1945.

"My mother told me it had been given to her father by another Civil War veteran while both soldiers were recuperating in the hospital in the late stages of that war.

"She also said it had been carved from a single piece of cedar wood — perhaps as some kind of a hospital therapy or hobby project."

Burch's Civil War veteran grandfather who was thus the original owner of the frame and picture was William Thompson Sherer.

SINCE 1945, it has hung in the living room of Burch, a retired coffee company executive.

"At my age, and with my own immediate family scattered, I felt the time had come to dispose of it," he says.

He found an appropriate and appreciative purchaser in U. S. Judge Abraham Lincoln Marovitz of Chicago, an enthusiastic collector of Lincoln memorabilia.

"When he wrote me how his judicial chambers were crowded with Lincoln mementos, and how groups of school children of all creeds, colors and nationalities visited there to admire his collection, I knew that was the perfect depository for my picture and frame," Burch says.

AND SO THE transaction was made, and one handcarved flexible, mortised tenon joint cedar wood portrait frame, of upright oval shape approximately 15 inches by 12 inches, handbrushed in clear varnish, was carefully packed and shipped back to the city where Burch had first seen it as a boy in his grandmother's home.

"In a way, I really hated to see it go," Burch says.

But then he thinks of all the children who will be enjoying it as they tour Judge Marovitz's chambers.

"I think it is far better that the pleasure be spread—particularly among the youngsters," he comments. "Perhaps it will help to instill in them a greater feeling of pride in American history and craftsmanship."

Miskimen, 34, of 4 Anchorage Court, senior financial analyst with the investment firm of Mitchum, Jones and Templeton, San Francisco.

BURTON, A native of San Rafael, is making his first bid for public office. He was graduated from the College of Marin and attended San Francisco State College, majoring in business administration.

He served as a master sergeant in the Air Force in the occupation of Japan and in Newfoundland and taught classes in management procedures. He is a member of the Air Force Reserves at Hamilton Air Force Base, and has been active in Little League baseball.

Burton contended that with the city changing from small town to city type living and population increasing "we are faced with the updating of all of our facilities."

San Rafael has excellent police and fire departments, but they are limited in scope and area of coverage, he said.

The courthouse square should be utilized to increase business for local merchants, add beauty to the city and add taxable dollars, he said. "City government should get the utmost in value for the property."

Burton opposed having the police chief, city clerk, city attorney and city treasurer appointed rather than elected. "The upcoming election will so show that the people also want to retain the right to selection of people for the various positions mentioned," he said.

CONTI, A former city planning commissioner for six years, ran u n s u c c e s s f u l l y for supervisor in 1958 and 1964 and for mayor in 1963.

Born and reared in San Francisco, he operated his plumbing business on Lombard Street before moving to San Rafael 18 years ago.

Conti has opposed the charter revision to make the offices of police chief, city attorney, city clerk and city treasurer appointive, saying "to take the right to vote away is wrong." He has said the courthouse square should be sold to private enterprise and placed on the tax rolls.

And he has said that the ultimate solution to Marin's growing problems can best be achieved through a single city-county government.

DAHLMAN, A graduate of San Francisco Law School, is an associate in the San Rafael law firm of Bagshaw, Martinelli, Weissich and Jordan.

A native of Corte Madera, he moved to San Rafael in 1962. He played varsity football and varsity baseball at Sir Francis Drake High School and varsity football at the College of Marin.

Dahlman contends that some of the immediate issues confronting the people of San Rafael, which must be resolved by their council, are "selection and construction of the major East-West highway, development of courthouse square, downtown business r e v i v a l, nature of developments in the Civic Center area, future annexations to the city, the retention and acquisition of beneficial industry and contribution to regional government."

He feels that the council and individual councilmen should solicit the assistance of civic o r g anizations, businessmen's and merchants' associations and service o r g a n i z a t i o n s to participate and assist the council in resolving problems.

"I further feel that the council should promote study groups composed of business and professional people in the community to study and advise the council as to the community feeling and thoughts regarding specific problems," Dahlman said.

He asserted that the most urgent problem is creation of a progressive city council, which will take the initiative to solve problems.

Regarding courthouse square, he said it "should not and cannot be developed in any way without a thorough study of any proposed developments and the effect upon the traffic pattern, parking needs and the nature of the business of the occupants."

Concerning proposed charter amendments, he said he is opposed to Proposition B, which would make four city officials appointive instead of elective, as it will be submitted to voters.

The four offices are submitted to the voters in one proposition. Dahlman said the proposal to make each office appointive should be considered separately from each of the other offices.

Dahlman also contended that the council should have set forth criteria or procedure that it would follow in making such appointments "to assure the public that only competent and qualified individuals would be 'in the running' for the respective appointments."

MISKIMEN, A member of the San Rafael Planning Commission, has been a resident of San Rafael since 1959.

He is a graduate of Harvard College, majoring in economics, and has completed post-graduate courses for a master's degree in business administration from Golden Gate College.

Miskimen formerly served as a member of a Dixie School District Finance Advisory Committee and was chairman of Harvard Schools and Scholarship Committee for North Bay Counties, 1960-66.

He feels the most urgent need "is a modern and specific campaign for attacking our inevitable major problems." Not attacking them as they come, but attacking them with smart preventive programs before they ever arise, he said.

With adequate foresight and with knowledge that is available "the city can take action not only for today but for an infinite variety of tomorrows," he said.

Miskimen views the courthouse square as "one of the last chances to preserve a spot of green and a bit of open air in a crowded and closely compressed downtown area. Most cities worthy of the name have a heart, be it a courthouse square, a small park, a pond or perhaps just a lawn. If the courthouse square project goes through as now proposed, the city's heart probably will be a gas station."

He said he didn't think that proposals for the square reflect the will of the people, and he would "like a referendum on the question after the purchase of this property by the city."

Miskimen noted that proposal changes in the charter, other than those eliminating "archaic wording and impossible specifications," would serve to strengthen the authority of the city council.

"This is particularly true of the suggestion to make appointive four major offices that now are elective. It is strictly a decision for the people of San Rafael to make. Making these offices elective would, I suppose, increase efficiency. It also would dislodge the principle of direct responsibility to the voters of a considerable section of the city administration.

"I have no pat answer to this dilemma. If I had, I would not want to foist it upon the voters when it affects the office which I seek."

O'CONNOR A former member of the San Rafael Planning Commission, is a lifelong resident of San Rafael. He was a founder and first president of the San Rafael Beautiful Committee and the San Rafael 20-30 Club.

He received his brokers license from the School of Insurance at Golden Gate College, and was in the wholesale building material business before serving as a sergeant in the Air Corps during World War II and entering the insurance business.

O'Connor believes that special attention should be given to annexation of certain outlying areas to the city, beautification, sewage and drainage deficiencies, commuter transportation, park and recreation facilities for newer sections of the city, police and fire protection and development of courthouse square.

"I consider the most urgent problem facing the city at this moment to be proper development of the courthouse square," he said. "The future of the business climate of downtown San Rafael, I feel, hinges on the development of this land."

The city cannot afford the luxury of retention of the old courthouse building as a monument to the past, nor can it afford the luxury of a block square park "as desirable as the latter might be," O'Connor asserted.

"We do need a development that will incorporate a park-like atmosphere along with commercial buildings that will compliment the existing downtown stores," he said.

Such development can include open space and adequate parking, above or below ground should be provided. A unique design could be the spark to draw people into the area, he said.

"This type of development would support and enhance sales tax revenues, as well as afford many of the desirable features relating to the park atmosphere that we very definitely must achieve if San Rafael is not to look like a wall-to-wall building against parking lot complex."

Regarding proposed charter revisions, he said that as the city continues to grow, the need of resorting to the appointive method of filling the top jobs will become increasingly important.

"One cannot deny the merit in selecting the officials concerned on the basis of individual competence and reliability," he said.

"But it should be remembered that the voters may be reluctant to accept this change unless full assurance is given that these appointments will be made on that basis, and as a reflection of their desires through their duly elected representatives on the city council."

O'Connor also said the city should plan to increase the number of councilmen to provide more effective representation and provide a voice in city government to people in all areas of the city on a more equitable basis.

JENSEN, 66, OF 246 Center Street, is a retired grading and excavating contractor, who has been a member of the council for 12 years. He also has been a director of the San Rafael Sanitation District for 10 years and is currently chairman.

A native of San Francisco, he later lived in Sonoma County before moving to San Rafael. During World War II, he served in the Coast Guard Reserve.

Jensen feels that his 12 years on the council and his longtime experience in the engineering and building business are his major qualifications.

THE CHAMBERS OF the San Rafael City Council, in the new San Rafael City Hall, are prepared for a meeting by city employee William R. Keaton. On Monday voters will elect two council members, at least on of whom will be a new face. Six candidates, including a single incumbent, are vying for the two posts at stake this year. (Independent-Journal photo)

"During my terms in office, I have helped fight through the expansive and expensive improvements of streets, drainage and lighting," he said. "Yet the city tax rate, which was $1.18 when I took office, is now only 90 cents, the lowest in the county," Jensen said. "A $1,750,000 city hall has been built and fully paid for."

In all cases, Jensen said, he has spoken first for the homeowner. "I have voted, without exception, for neighborhood needs and against special interests."

He said that he gives full time to his office, and will continue to do so.

Jensen feels that the most urgent problem facing the city is "judging the needs accurately and keeping a cost-conscious eye on the improvements or added construction that must come inevitably from the demands of a constantly increasing population."

Regarding courthouse square, Jensen said, first it must come under city jurisdiction and then once subject to careful city zoning and site restrictions, it should go to the best private bidder to get it on the tax rolls.

Others have said that it should be turned into a small park or kept for some other unspecified public use, he said. "I agree with them that San Rafael's business district is cramped by natural and artificial boundaries. I agree that we can do with some beauty and graciousness downtown. I agree that it would be nice to have a place to stroll and eat box lunches. But I do not agree with them that it is possible," he said.

The property is simply too valuable, and it is a prospective source of "good taxes," he said.

On the proposal to make the offices of police chief, city clerk, city treasurer and city attorney appointive rather than elective, Jensen said, there is merit in both systems.

"I feel the decision to make these postions appointive or elective should be left up to the people."

Charter Change Voting Slated

San Rafael voters Monday will have an opportunity to mark their ballots on a number of proposed city charter revisions.

The most controversial of those measures would remove the positions of police chief, city attorney, city clerk and city treasurer from the list of elective offices, and make them appointive.

Another would raise the pay of city council members from $50 a month ($100 for mayor) to $150 a month.

Yet another would lift the current limit of $1,000 on expenditure for advertising and permit, and leave such appropriations up to the council.

The date of municipal elections would be switched from the second Monday to the third Tuesday in April of each odd-numbered year. Non-existing health department and police court agencies would be eliminated from the charter. The office of city manager would become a part of the charter. Council representation on fire, park and library commissions would be permitted.

Other measures provide for annual review of official bonds, a provision for exclusive franchises, a hike in the ceiling on public works contracts that can be awarded without formal bidding, an elimination of the tax levy minimum for parks and library, etc.

Four Vie In School Election

Only Three Can Win Board Jobs

Three incumbents and one challenger will be battling for three seats on the San Rafael Board of Education in the city election Monday.

The challenger is John C. Pfeiffer, and the incumbents, Carl J. Brown, Herman L. Childress and Mrs. Anita C. Strom.

BROWN, 51, of 7 Longwood Drive, is a biology teacher and football and basketball coach at Sir Francis Drake High School. He was elected to the board in 1963, and has been president of the board since 1965.

Brown also served as a member of the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission from 1957-63 and as chairman of the commission 1961-63.

"My concern as a candidate for re-election is to achieve and maintain the best possible educational program for the children of our district," he said.

"I have no other educational axe to grind, no intention to urge some private cause. I do promise to sit with four other members of the board and consider with them problems of importance to the district . . . to investigate issues, make judgments and reach conclusions with them. In short, I offer my experience, my very real concern with the educational quality of our schools and my desire to work towards its excellence."

HERMAN L. Childress, 46, of 24 Dunfries Terrace, who was appointed to the board Feb. 7, 1966, will be making his first bid for election. He is a national accounts representative for Standard Oil Co. of California.

Childress, a native of Cairo, Ill., received a B.S. degree in chemical engineering from University of Illinois and an M.S. in the same field from Carnegie Institute of Technology.

The goal of our educational system "is good education and progressive education in the sense that our children must be taught the things they will need to cope with the world of tomorrow, not the world of yesterday," he said.

"But new concepts, new problems of the space age, new teaching tools do not erase the verities of life, the essence of civilized existence that are embodied in the basic design of the San Rafael school system, which I consider an admirable system."

Childress said his aim is to maintain a topnotch school system. "I would not sacrifice quality for pennies. Neither would I gamble tax monies upon ideas that dazzle but do not inform."

He also asserted, "I hold, and believe I can prove in action, that we can provide quality education at a reasonable cost."

PFEIFFER, 41 of 27 Arcangel Way, is vice president and director of Strong, Wishart and Associates, San Francisco, a management consulting firm.

He is president of the Oliver Hartzell Parent-Teacher Association, and immediate past president of the Northern California Chapter of the American Marketing Association.

Pfeiffer, a graduate of Northwestern University, also is a member of the budgeting committee of the United Community Funds Councils of California.

"In a world changing as fast as ours only the well-educated will be contributors to and recipients of its bounties," Pfeiffer said.

"Whatever lags in education affect other children, whatever deprivations of information are visited upon others for lack of sound school management—those will affect your children and my children. And so they will affect you and me," he contended.

"We must insure an educational system that broadens their outlook, teaches them to seek out all relevant facts and opinions and encourages them to think deeply and clearly."

Pfeiffer said his work as a management consultant includes studies of over-all management and administration, data processing, cost reduction, long-range planning, organization and compensation.

"All of these elements are most pertinent to the functioning of a school district. I believe my training in objective evaluation of facts can contribute to logical decisions."

MRS. STROM, of 260 Linden Lane, who was appointed to the board in May, 1965, will be making her first bid for election.

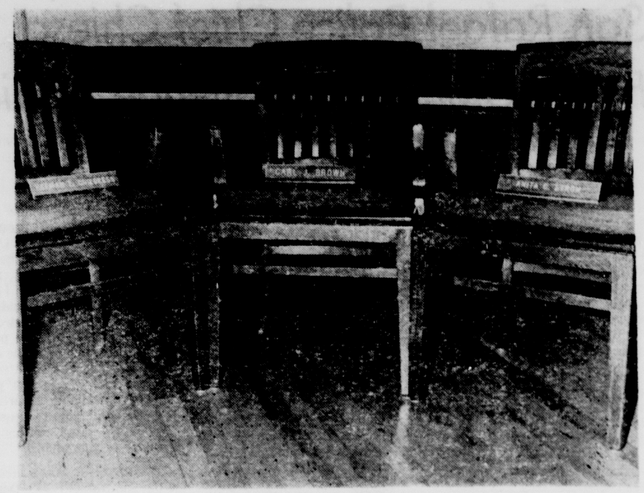
She is a housewife, an employee of Budd's Travel and Tours, San Rafael, and formerly served on the San Rafael Parks and Recreation Commission.

"I believe that the schools belong to the people, and the voice of the parents and taxpayers must be heard," Mrs. Strom said.

"If the board is to be more than merely a rubber stamp, its members must fulfill the obligation of representing the people," she contended.

"The mastering of the basic essential skills of reading, writing and spelling must be the schools' major concern and responsibility," she said. "I believe that a positive approach to our American heritage and ideals should be presented to students together with a thorough understanding as to the reasons behind the success of our economic system. Respect for law and order and the concept of freedom with responsibility cannot be ignored without grave danger to society."

Mrs. Strom also contended that the heavy burden on taxpayers "requires that every attempt be made to live within the school budget and to secure the utmost in educational value from each tax dollar."



WHO WILL OCCUPY these three seats in the meeting room of the San Rafael Board of Education in the San Rafael City Schools Administration Building, Third and E Streets, will be decided by the voters on Monday. Four candidates, including the three incumbents, are contesting for the three positions. (Independent-Journal photo)

San Rafael Police Chief Chiesa Faces Giampoli Challenge Again

Rivals Slate Rematch For City's Top Law Enforcement Position

The battle for San Rafael police chief will be a re-match between Chief Charles J. Chiesa and former police lieutenant Nick Giampoli, operator of a private investigative agency.

Chief Chiesa defeated Giampoli for the post four years ago after firing him for taking unauthorized sick leave.

CHIESA, 55, has been with the police department for 28 years, and was elected chief in 1959, defeating Frank Kelly who had held the post for 16 years.

In a statement on why he feels he should be re-elected, Chiesa emphasized his long experience in the department, listing it as three years as patrolman, seven as sergeant, 11 as lieutenant and assistant chief, and eight as chief.

"For many years I served as the chairman of a training school conducted by the FBI," wrote Chiesa. "This school included both basic and advanced training for police officers throughout the county. I have attended administrative seminars in the Bay Area to gain additional knowledge."

Chiesa cited among his accomplishments the city council's adoption of state peace officer minimum requirements in hiring for the department.

"During my affiliation with the City of San Rafael I have seen the department grow from a seven-man department to a department which is now comprised of 40 sworn personnel and 16 civilian personnel, and yet with the growth of the city and increase in services, more personnel is required and I have requested same in this budget."

He said that if re-elected, "I will strive to see that the public will continue to receive the courteous and businesslike attention to all of their matters or problems from the police department personnel and that everyone will receive the same courtesy regardless of the problem."

GIAMPOLI, 43, was a member of the San Rafael Police Department for 16 years. He has been licensed as a professional investigator for seven years.

There is still need for improvement in the development of organizational policies and procedures and administrative comprehension, direction and control, he said.

There also is a need for thorough continuous training for recruits and staff officers, and more emphasis on crime prevention, Giampoli declared. There should be an accurate traffic analysis and a coordinated traffic safety program, and a maximum effort to reduce "the skyrocketing drugs and narcotic distribution," he said.

"San Rafael citizens are paying enough money for good police services," Giampoli contended. "The 1966 police budget of more than $530,000 represents an increase of more than 66 per cent since 1962. The money is there and I would make sure it is utilized effectively," he said.

"For the record, I would like it known that I have not accepted any campaign contributions as a candidate for this important office."

Four On Monday Ballot Are Without Opposition

Four of San Rafael's city officials will be running in Monday's municipal election for new terms without opposition.

They are C. Paul Bettini, mayor; W. Clifford Cornwell, city clerk; A. J. (Angie) Soldavini, city treasurer and license collector; and David Menary Jr., city attorney.

Three of those four positions, incidentally, will become appointive positions in the future, if Measure B among the proposed city charter provisions receives the approval of voters on Monday.

Only the mayorality post among the four would continue to be an elective office, if the charter revision is authorized.

POET'S CORNER

THIS COULD BE THE YEAR

This could be the Giants' pennant-winning year,
For other teams they will well domineer.
The players are conditioned to give their best,
And play like real champs in each contest.

This could be the year Willie Mays comes through,
Slamming out the park, home run 62.
Sadecki could be great if he gets in form,
Winning 20 games with his mighty left arm.

Let's not forget Marichal the pitching ace,
He's the guy who can keep the Giants in first place.
This could be his year of a matchless chore,
Chalking up 30 victories or more.

Gaylord Perry, and Bolin, will be there,
To throw other teams in panic and despair.
This could be the year Stretch McCovey thrives,
Giving fans a thrill with his home run drives.

All the players will have a chance to display
Their God-given talents from day to day.
So let's keep fingers crossed, and have no fear,
For the peerless Giants, this could be the year!

MARIN CITY — LEON SPIRO

On The Stereo Scene

By JOHN SUNIER

SURREALISTIC PILLOW — The Jefferson Airplane — RCA Victor LSP-3766:

The Airplane's second album is even better than the first, and their new gal vocalist Grace Slick is one of the best things about the biggest rock group that the San Francisco area has produced.

Variety is the keynote of this LP, with such exotic sounds as recorders (as in flute, not tape), fuzz bass and organ.

Grace's "White Rabbit" is a quiet but fantastic thing to hear. "My Best Friend" is one of the hits of the day, and while this writer hasn't figured out "She Has Funny Cars" yet, one can't deny it swings and jumps with a vengeance. The balance, both between channels and between highs and lows, is much better on this album than the first one.

MORE OF THE MONKEES—Colgems COS-102:

This is number two for the Monkees, too.

Even if these youngsters are just a Hollywood creation and don't play their own instruments (it is alleged they don't even sing), somebody has come up with some pretty good tunes.

"I'm a Believer" is this writer's favorite — it has a certain prayer meetin' joyful swing to it, with a little organ riff that's just too much. Also good are "Steppin' Stone" and "Mary, Mary."

MELLOW YELLOW — Donovan—Epic BN 26239:

This "new beat" star has been around for quite some time in his native England, but only recently made his big international yellow splash with the title tune of this LP.

One wonders how long ago these 10 tracks were recorded, because the stereo version is rechanneled from an original mono tape. Actually, few of the other tunes come up to the catchy swing of "Mellow Yellow," although "Hampstead Incident" has a strange and compelling mood.

There is a lot of ingenuity in the instrumental backgrounds, especially the blues piano and harpsichord work of John Cameron.

A Novel Built On A Paradox

THE GODMOTHER by Janice Elliott, Holt, Rinehart and Winston, 223 pages, $4.95. Reviewed by Barbara L. Cullen.

Helen Porter's own life never extended beyond herself into marriage or motherhood. Nevertheless, she evoked a response of commitment with whomever she met, in much the same way that a godmother commits herself into a relationship with her godchild who, in turn, may become answerable to her for his actions.

Not that she asked for or was cognizant of this responsibility. In her quality of being "at once old and ageless," however, she seemed an oracle whose presence stripped one of pretense and illusion. The naked truth often revealed an ugliness and destructiveness about the human spirit that sent the mind recoiling in disbelief, anger, or frustration.

In actuality Helen was godmother to the son of James, her nephew, and his wife, Dorothy. The opening baptismal scene introduces the paradoxical theme which is woven throughout the novel: That "in the newborn child is his death." The figure of the old woman holding up new life darkened the atmosphere of the occasion. She appeared as a sign of man's mortality.

Reversibly, the novel concludes with a rebirth through death. As Helen passed through the last stages of decay, she discovered possibilities heretofore denied her. The vision of Helen as a young girl swimming toward her destiny became the final act of her dying.

Structurally, "The Godmother" is reminiscent of the English pastoral novel. The island on which Helen lived is apart from the worldly atmosphere of London. As such, it represents, like Helen herself, a retreat to which one could escape for a moment of simplification or self-clarification. The state of physical decay about Helen and her home defies conventional acceptance of the island as a haven of innocence. Yet the older definition of an idyllic country setting is compatible within this newer interpretation.

By superimposing the concept of birth upon death and its reverse, a neutral atmosphere, in which man's innermost spirit can be released, was achieved.

This is precisely the point at which the novel fails. Each character's spirit so freed revealed the littleness of his humanity and the self-destructive direction of his energies. Individual reflections of some importance were themselves reduced to insignificance by the very imagery with which they were juxtaposed. Thus knowledge absorbed of oneself, "like slowly sipping a glass of milk," became as commonplace and trivial as its descriptive simile. The appalling lack of any dimension of nobility in the human spirit excuses the reader from emotional or intellectual involvement.

In the construction of Helen Porter's internal, visionary world within the framework of her external, physical demise, Janice Elliott, novelist, is at her best. She illuminated and broadened Helen's barren existence so that the spirit was at last willing to accept "Helen, the child, the virgin, and the old woman." In death she was reborn.

Conant Looks At Schools Again

THE COMPREHENSIVE HIGH SCHOOL: a Second Report to Interested Citizens, by James Bryant Conant, McGraw-Hill, 96 pages, paperback, $1.95. Reviewed by Bryce W. Anderson.

James Bryant Conant created a great stir in education circles with his "The American High School Today" in 1959.

In it, he set forth the case for the comprehensive high school — i. e., that which offers vocational courses as an addition to the academic courses. He found it to be the school most suitable for American ideas. And he laid down his own set of rules about what it should contain.

In "The Comprehensive High School: a Second Report to Interested Citizens," Conant reviews some facets of what has happened to American high schools in the decade since the studies than led to the former volume. In particular, he inquires into how far they have come along the road he laid out.

This is done primarily through the typical device of a questionnaire survey. The questions, as Conant readily concedes, were tailored to fit the form he had recommended for the high schools.

From the figures, he draws his own conclusions — and sometimes the reader may draw different ones. The learned doctor is a bit inclined to find the figures seem to prove what he already believed.

He is able to demonstrate, however, considerable increases in the number of high schools offering four years of one foreign language, and the number in which the English "teacher load" is 120 students or less — two criteria he set up for the ideal comprehensive high school.

He finds there is still too much variation among schools. And, like many other educators, he concludes part of the trouble is the method of financing schools — or rather, the methods, since there is wide variation from state to state.

In only one respect does Conant retreat from the criteria he laid down for the comprehensive high school in his earlier volume. That is in the size of the school. At that time, he felt 2,000 students was about the right size for a genuine comprehensive high school. Now he writes :

"I am prepared to maintain that an excellent comprehensive high school can be developed in any school district provided the high school enrolls at least 750 students and sufficient funds are available."

The question of what constitutes "sufficient funds" remains, of course, very much subject to debate.

Dallas Tragedy And A Violation Of Taste

THE TRUMPETS OF NOVEMBER by Wesley S. Thurston, Bernard Geis Associates, 413 pages, $5.95. Reviewed by Laurel Shapiro.

Using the Dallas tragedy as a vehicle for voyeurism seems in questionable taste, to say the least.

Ostensibly, this wooden charade is concerned with an alleged conspiracy behind President John F. Kennedy's assassination, a timely idea the author seems unable to develop at all, in spite of much frenzy. But in actual fact, the only thing going in this so-called "blend of fact and fiction" is steamy sex.

An ultra-right society is conspiring to knock off all the progressive leaders in the country. Due to a number of childish coincidences, our clean-cut liberals discover the dastardly plot, courting death at every step, of course.

But it's all no use. The characters are out of comic books, the so-called plot is a preposterous jumble, the dialogue wearying. So, in what appears to be a desperate attempt to beef up the book, somehow, the author drags out a new look in sex-for-sagging-novels — a snickering menage a trois.

The passionate bouts of these three dedicated young people are spelled out in purple detail, the author sandwiching their bedwork with discussions of the Kennedys, Oswald, the funeral — barbarous juxtapositions that alone would reduce the story to a shambles, if there were a story.

Not that it matters. No one will read the wadding in between the sex scenes, anyway.

The Drinking Female Tells Her Problems

AN AMERICAN WOMAN AND ALCOHOL by Patricia Kent, Holt, Rinehart and Winston, 184 pages, $4.95. Reviewed by Lee Cadwallader.

Recently a woman alcoholic wrote to a San Francisco columnist in desperation, seeking help from the columnist's readers and threatening suicide if she did not receive it.

She stated that she had tried all popularly recommended avenues of cure for her disease without success, and had come to the conclusion that strength of will was the only alternative left to her.

Her problem was, that once coming to this conclusion, she lacked faith in it because she lacked evidence that sheer willpower could save her.

She pleaded for letters from readers who had cured their disease by willpower and was so swamped with evidence that she was unable to acknowledge all letters without first forming an organization.

Women alcoholics are a problem in the Bay Area. This problem is compounded by their concealment by home and family.

Patricia Kent (a pseudonym for a former alcoholic and present member of AA) shows in this book how to tell if you are an alcoholic, what you can do about it if you finally admit your plight, and in "Red Alerts for the Newly Sober" adds a chapter on how to escape from pills.

She says about her book, "It is not a medical book nor a social study nor advice from a psychiatrist or a priest, but a book for girls and women facing the ghastly pressures of everyday American living."

About a month ago I should have predicted that this book, with its over-generalizations, would repell those sophisticated, well-educated women who most need it.

But now that part of the guilt felt by these women has been lifted from their burden by the sensational revelations that responsible men in our government have been jeopardizing the welfare of our nation by hiding their addiction to alcohol just as the housewife often does — now it is easier to see the danger of deception and deceit.

Perhaps men who have taken inventory of their liquor stock lately and have been disturbed will buy this book and leave it within reach of their wives— after they have finished reading it.

Struggling With The Medieval

THE MEDIEVAL WORLD by Peter Kidson, McGraw-Hill, 167 pages, $5.95. Reviewed by Laura Devendorf.

If you already have a thorough knowledge of history from 400-1400 and if you already know all about the period's architecture, sculpture, painting, manuscripts, metalwork and glass, then you can skip Peter Kidson's impossible text and enjoy the good-looking pictures.

Otherwise, if you like mystery, such as having a vital point illustrated by something which itself remains unexplained until several chapters later . . .

If you have a memory that by then is good enough to summon forth why you cared in the first place . . .

If you have a penchant for treasure hunts such as references to plates each of which refer to others, each of which refer to more until you can't remember the page you started on . . . or why . . .

If you think captions should keep safe the secrets held in the rest of the text . . .

Or if you think the text should keep safe the secrets of the subject for people who know all about it anyway . . .

And finally, if you enjoy reading this typical excerpt, you should love Dr. Kidson's "The Medieval World":

"A large element of deliberate policy was involved, and the outcome was important for the whole future development of Christian art, for the mere fact that henceforth there was an alternative to the Early Christian art of the Mediterranean introduced an element of polarity which in turn gave rise to stylistic tensions and the possibilities of interaction."

As far as I'm concerned, it wasn't worth the struggle.

One Reaction To Manchester's Work

By DON KEOWN

THE DEATH OF A PRESIDENT by William Manchester, Harper & Row, 710 pages, $10.

NUTRITION FOR HEALTH by Dr. Alice Chase, Parker, 319 pages, $6.95.

Any review at this late date of William Manchester's "The Death of a President" would be an exercise in superfluity.

Large slices of the book have already been serialized, and a great deal of comment upon it printed and voiced well in advance of the official publication date — yesterday.

We'll settle for a few personal reactions to the book:

It seems to us that Manchester, on the whole, has done an incredible job of investigation, organization and presentation of his material. The amount of information crammed into the 710 pages is simply staggering. There may be reason to question the relevancy of some of it, including disclosures that are painfully and embarrassingly personal. But Manchester plainly has chosen deliberately to err on the side of excess, rather than risk omitting that which might prove material.

Consequently, the book is no easy reading project. But it is an intensely moving and highly informative recreation of those November days in 1963 that were among the darkest this nation ever weathered — so much so that it brings forth recollections nearly as intense emotionally and traumatic as the wrenching grief experienced at the time of the tragedy itself.

Despite Jacqueline Kennedy's much publicized opposition to the printing of the book, there is nothing in it really damaging to the Kennedy image. To the contrary. John F. Kennedy is accorded the deference shown martyrs. Among those surviving, Robert Kennedy fares best of all, having, from Manchester's account, conducted himself with remarkable dignity and courage — and with a certain quality of sensitivity and gentleness not always attributed to him. Nor is the Jacqueline Kennedy luster really tarnished by the revelation that there is more steel and spirit behind that beautiful face, soft voice and gracious manner than many had supposed. The awe and admiration with which the whole world regarded her conduct during her terrible ordeal remain overwhelming impressions.

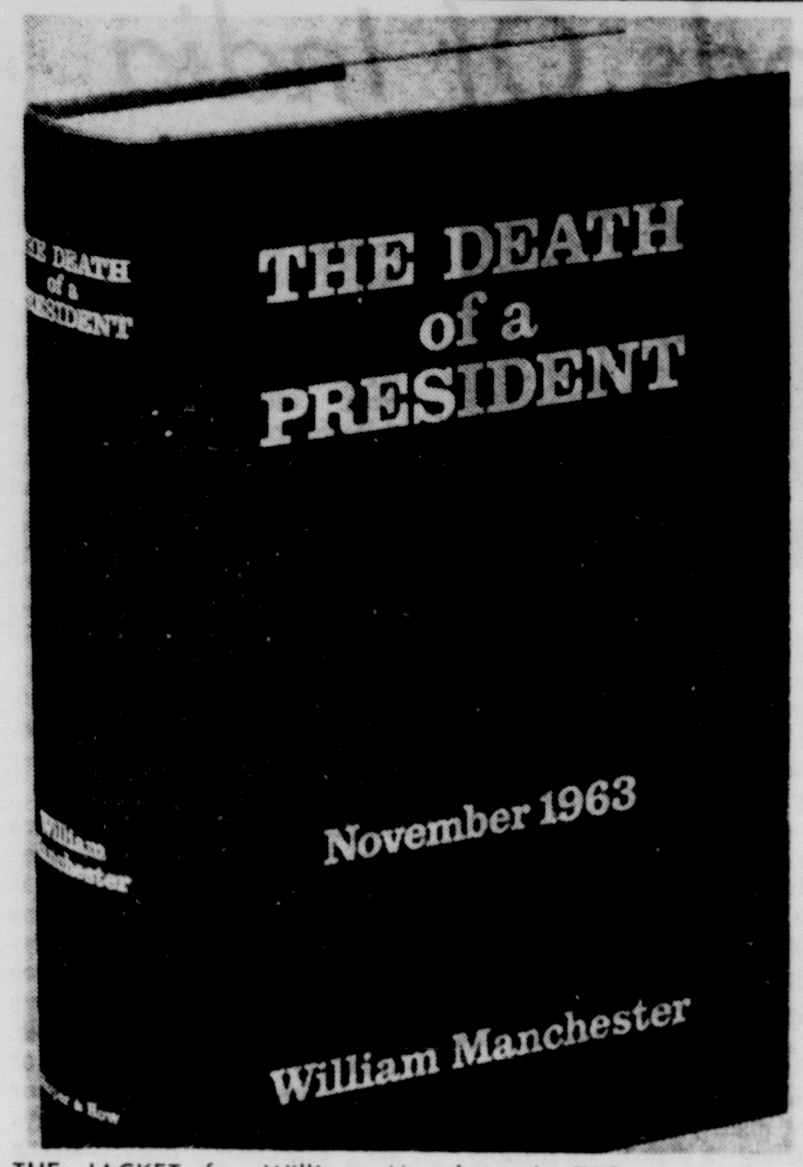
Lyndon B. Johnson does not come out so well. Instances of boorish, clumsy, puzzling behavior are not entirely explained nor dissipated by Manchester's frequent reminders of the tremendous pressure under which the new President was functioning.

Many others stand revealed by the spotlight Manchester has focussed upon one of history's great crucibles as victims of their human foibles and worse. Included are Texas politicians and Gov. John Connally in particular, the conservative "establishment" that runs Dallas, the police force of that city, the U.S. Secret Service, J. Edgar Hoover, Associated Press, certain morticians, some publicity-craving congressmen, lawyer Mel Belli, Lee Harvey Oswald's widow and mother, et al.

Manchester accepts without qualification the Warren Commission's finding that Oswald was the lone assassin, acting without conspiracy. But he presents no real refutation of some of the most serious challenges to that theory, a strange omission in view of the mass of detail he has accumulated on other aspects of the case.

It is disheartening to be reminded of the hopes expressed at that gloomy time that at least some good might be derived from the insane horrors of November, 1963, in a lessening of hatred, extremism and violence in our country. There has been no such lasting impact. Nor has the shock produced as yet the sensible gun control laws which have been urged.

Manchester's book is not a perfect book. Considering the intense scope, complexity and emotionalism of his subject, that would be impossible. But it is a meritorious endeavor — almost astoundingly so. Much of the early criticism leveled at it is on the nitpicking level.



THE JACKET for William Manchester's 710-page "The Death of a President" is a dark blue with the suggestion of stars in a night sky.

VEGETARIANISM was once a much discussed dietary theory, and, if our recollection for the almost inconsequential serves us correctly, even used to run candidates for President.

Today, the philosophy, or fetish, or fad, or however you see it, seems almost quaintly old-fashioned and out-of-date. Mankind has gone on to other beliefs and pursuits more easily demonstrable as foibles, and thus more enduring.

But vegetarianism still commands a following, if a somewhat quieter one.

For those in the ranks, and for possible new recruits, Dr. Alice Chase, a medical doctor and surgeon turned osteopath and a disciple of one of the pioneers of the health-by-diet school, Dr. J. H. Tilden, has written "Nutrition for Health." What it amounts to is a basic primer on eating for those who eschew flesh and chew instead fruits, vegetables and nuts.

Dr. Chase, a woman of even stronger opinions than most, has some other unorthodox ideas including a debunking of the start-the-day-with-a-big-breakfast thesis that should provide welcome justification for the black coffee and juice addicts. On the other hand, she advises a prohibition on coffee and tea. She urges, too, that you drink or eat your milk course first at each meal. With less originality, she states that we all eat too much of everything, and especially of the wrong things.

The habit of hamburgers and chops, and an occasional beef steak, is a difficult one to abandon. For those who have made that rather awesome sacrifice or are considering it, Dr. Chase may provide the necessary reaffirmation or nudge.

Dietetically correct or not, vegetarianism does offer one distinct advantage to civilization in that it provides man with one less excuse for his slaughter of his fellow animals. But he can be relied upon to come up with substitute and more witless rationalizations. Man isn't about to give up his role as mighty hunter. And if we don't eat them, what are we going to do with all of those carcasses?

FROM THE Touchstone Press, Post Office Box 401, Portland, comes the $1.95 softcover book "Oregon's Historical Markers" by W. M. Scofield.

Scofield, with the help of the Oregon Historical Society and Oregon Highway Commission, has put together a collection of photographs of the 76 official markers designating history-making points in the state. These have been expertly reproduced so that inscriptions are quite readable. And there is a map showing the location of the markers.

It represents an interesting introduction to the colorful history of our neighbor to the north, especially helpful to those planning automobile tours of that state.

STEREO HI-FI

By C. J. Catania
Audio Engineer

A DOCTOR'S TIME—Professional men must devote a lifetime to study. They must keep up with progress. In this generation, knowledge is increasing at a tremendous pace. It has been said that in the field of electronics, knowledge is doubling every five years. Medical knowledge may be at a similar rate.

An average day for a doctor may consist of surgery in the morning at the hospital, taking care of patients at the clinic in the late morning, taking care of patients at the clinic during the afternoon, and house calls during the evening hours. Along with this the doctor has to make emergency calls whenever they occur.

It is surprising how many times in one evening a doctor may have to jump into his car and drive to a patient's home on a house call, or to the hospital for an emergency. With most hours used up, it is rather difficult to find time to read the many medical journals so necessary to keep a good doctor well informed. To make the most use of their time, many doctors are now using tape recorders in their cars. While driving to and from their various duty assignments, they listen to taped lectures on medicine. They subscribe to a service which brings them peroidical taped lectures covering the many and growing fields of medicine. These same tape recorders are sometimes used to transcribe their patient reports after a house call immediately after the visit, even while driving.

The taped service for doctors comes in five inch reels, and available at the standard tape recorder speeds. They are like timely medical journals crammed with the latest information. They are also available on specific subjects.

Some doctors also use the tape recorder in the car to learn to speak and understand a foreign language. This additional language can be very useful with patients that can't speak English. The taped language lessons follow a sequence for ease of learning. Generally they follow a pattern of: the phrase in English, the same phrase in the foreign language, a pause on the tape to allow the listener to repeat the phrase, and again the phrase in the foreign language for the listener to compare. Some doctors prepare their own language tapes in the above sequence from language records. Time is our most valuable asset. Doctors use it wisely.

The Foods Of India

The Travel Pages

You can leave your foreign phrase book at home when you visit India, for nearly everyone there speaks English.

However, the one place where it is fun to know some of the local terms is in a restaurant.

As it would take several volumes to itemize all of the delicious dishes in India, here are only a few of the most popular:

Mullihatawny—is a soup. A true aristocrat of the tureen, it is served all over the world and many people do not realize that it is an Indian culinary invention. Mulligatawny's flavor is similar to curry; it is delicious with rice.

Curry—you probably already know this term and it may conjure up a fiery food. Actually when curry is made well, it is spiced only enough to be interesting. A curry can be made from almost anything — meat, fish, vegetables and eggs. It is served with rice, or with one of India's delicious breads.

Chappatis, parathas and poories—are Indian breads, made of whole wheat flour, shaped into flat cakes and grilled, roasted or sauteed. Another popular bread is nan, made from white flour, and long in shape. Pappardam, a crispy cracker-like concoction, seasoned with peppers and aniseed, is very tasty with any food. Dosa, are crisp pancakes made with a rice base and popular in South India. They are often stuffed with cooked vegetables, turnover style.

Idli—are steamed rice cakes — a popular breakfast dish in the south and served with chutney and ground spices.

Vindaloo—is a marinated meat dish.

Biriani—a dish fit for royalty, it is made of chicken or lamb, with fragrant whole spices and rice, garnished with raisins, cashews, almonds and a sprinkling of rose water.

Tandoori—defines a method of cooking something like our barbecue here, except in a clay oven. Chicken tandoori, a delicacy rosy pink in color, is very popular and in some places, you'll also find lamb and fish cooked this wonderful way.

Shish Kebabs—just as any backyard chef here would imagine, these are skewered pieces of meat, broiled over an open charcoal fire. Kebabs, are minced pieces of meat, patty shaped, and filled with chopped onion, green pepper and fresh ginger — a heavenly hamburger.

Dhal, chutney and raita — are side dishes. Dhal will look like thick soup or gravy to you; it is made out of lentils, dried peas or other ingredients and is served along with your main course as a bland partner to balance more highly seasoned foods. Chutneys are made of fruit or vegetables in a sweet and sour sauce. Mint and mango chutneys are especially tasty. Green Coriander, also known as Chinese Parsley, in the United States, makes another delicate chutney.

Pickles are also popular and can be made out of fruit or vegetables. Raita is a yogurt preparation with vegetables or fruit. Dahi is yogurt and found on every Indian table to tone down spicy dishes, and it is also used as a marinade for vegetables or in salads which are different and refreshing.

Firnee is pudding made with rice; burfi, is a milk base sweet, similar to a rich fudge; jalebi are pancakes in sweet syrup. Sandesh, which many claim to be the original sundae, is a dessert made from milk. Rasagolla is a light dessert with a yogurt base; gulabjamun, a fried sweet in syrup.

You may think it strange to have carrots for dessert, but in India they come to the table disguised as halve, a delicious confection. More traditional diners will enjoy India's ice cream which is rich and sometimes filled with chunks of fruit. Your dessert may come to the table wrapped in silver. It is not only delightful to look at but delicious when eaten.

To top off your meal, try pan, an Indian digestive made of betel nuts, sweet and aromatic spices, wrapped in a crisp betel leaf. It leaves the mouth feeling as refreshed as if you had, as the dentist might have wished, brushed after your meal.

Tea is marvelous in India, a country where it is grown, and coffee is excellent, especially in the south where it too, is produced. Up north, in lovely Kashmir, tea is served both salty and sweet. The first is taken with cream and the other is perfumed with such exotic spices as saffron and cardamons, and may even have almonds floating in it.

Words for foods in India often vary as you travel, just as the country's scenery, people and customs are apt to change from place to place. If you ask for safeda in Lucknow (north), langra in Benares (the north), alphonso in Bombay (the west), and malgova in Madras (the south), you will get smiles from the waiter for your knowledge and be rewarded with a delicious mango. India is famous for this fruit which is, by any name, quite a treat.

Now, you have a basic list. If you lose it, don't worry. The waiter will translate for you. He speaks English, too.

Take Sensible Health Precautions For Trip

You can't always take for granted the same protection when you travel abroad.

FOOD AND WATER may be safe in the better hotels and restaurants, but even there upsets may occur unless you are very selective about your eating and drinking. Thoroughly cooked foods are the safest.

Bottled water should be used for drinking, brushing teeth, and the preparation of all beverages served cold. Avoid the use of ice in drinks. It may have been made from contaminated water and there is not enough alcohol in mixed drinks to kill the bacteria.

If you eat raw fruit, be sure the skin is unbroken and that it is washed in your presence with bottled water.

IMMUNIZATION shots should be obtained from your family doctor well in advance of your trip. Which kind you need will depend to some extent on where you plan to go.

For any trip outside Canada and the U. S. possessions, you must have a smallpox vaccination.

To prove that you have been vaccinated, you must obtain and have your doctor fill out an International Certificate of Immunization, which must then be officially stamped by a local health department.

YOUR PHYSICIAN can tell you about other immunizations which, though not required by law, may be advisable for travel to some places. Shots for typhus, cholera, and yellow fever may be needed if your trip takes you to certain parts of Asia, Africa Eastern Europe, Central and South America. Wherever you go, it's good idea to make sure that your protection against polio is complete.

The outbreaks in recent years of typhoid fever in a fashionable Swiss resort and in Scotland have re-emphasized the importance of immunization against that disease.

Most Americans have been immunized against tetanus, commonly known as lockjaw. The danger of this infection is great in any puncture of the skin, especially when contaminated by soil. Following injury, a tetanus booster shot is commonly given to make certain that protection is complete. If you plan to visit remote areas where immediate medical attention is not always available, your physician may suggest a booster shot before you leave.

MEDICINES CAN be prescribed by your doctor for use in dysentery and other common disorders. If you take medication regularly, make sure that you take along an adequate supply.

If you suffer from a chronic illness which might require emergency care, you should carry a card or tag identifying this condition.

KEEP COMFORTABLE — and this final word of warning applies to those who are vacationing in this country as well as those who travel abroad.

Most vacations — particularly if they take you to new cities — call for hour after hour of walking. Fortify yourself by packing comfortable shoes, and take along your favorite foot powder or lotion to relieve the discomfort of hot, tired feet.

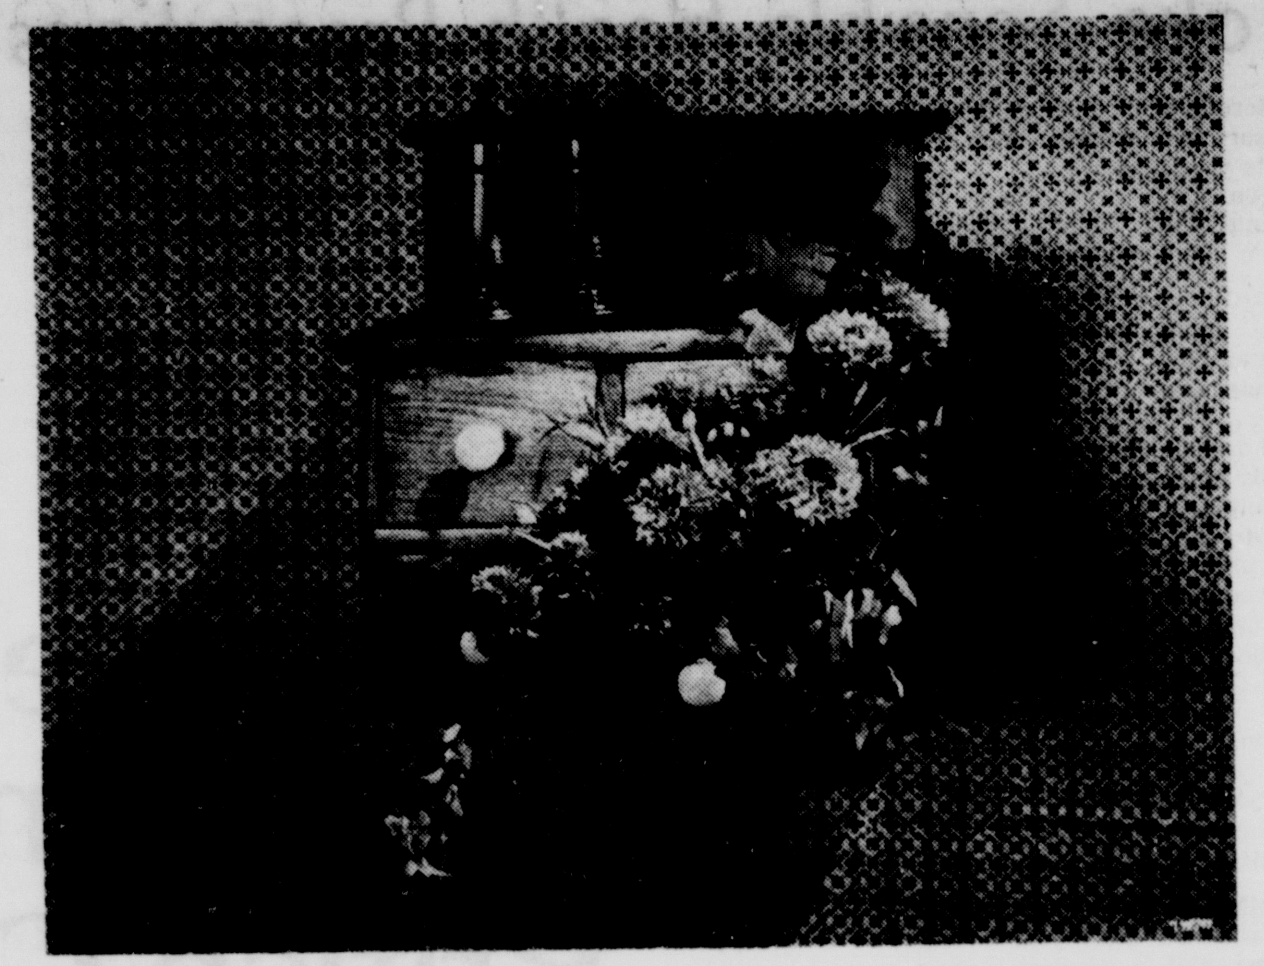
PART OF THE secret to eye-catching flower arrangements is in the utilization of unusual containers. Here the more conventional vase has been supplemented by a basket, a gravy boat, a copper saucepan and even a coffee cup, all holding the flaming scarlet and gold of the Sunburst Celosia.



A NEAT TRICK in the way of a hanging floral arrangement is seen here. The lower drawer of a spice cabinet has been pulled out to provide a nifty container for a small grouping of flowers. It makes a most attractive wall decoration.

Act Now To Prevent Summer Doldrums

Color as it comes from bedding annuals is the gardener's best weapon against the summer doldrums.

When the blush of spring is gone a bed of Stocks or a bright border of Marigolds is just what the doctor ordered to cheer you up.

TURN YOUR thoughts to summer, then, and start preparing to plant. Spade the areas that are going into annuals and work steer manure well into the soil.

When planting, pay especial attention to your color combinations. Annuals offer you a chance to create many pleasant contrasts. White Stocks are dazzling in their own right, but think of them with a foreground of pink Snapdragons, themselves fronted by blue mounds of Ageratum.

There are so many possibilities.

CERTAIN ANNUALS seem best when planted in beds of single colors. Others, such as Zinnias and Verbena, which have strong colors, seem more effective when mixed. We can't imagine a bed of Zinnias all in one color being half so dazzling as the rich combination which mixed colors offer.

Don't overlook the little annuals in favor of the bigger and showier varieties. The Alyssum family has added some nice new faces in recent years, including last year's All America Selection, Rosie O'Day. Lobelia is always striking with its lace-like masses of tiny blooms. And the clear blue of Ageratum is unmatched in any other garden flower.

Try these in massed beds or in edgings.

WE CAUTION once more against the practice, prevalent among some gardeners, to under-plant annuals. Don't try to stretch a dozen plants out over an area that could take two dozen. It's much better to clump your color, if you haven't enough to mass it.

Buy by the flat, and you won't have to worry about it.

Fuchsia: Pride Of Shade Garden

From a humble beginning in the jungles of Latin America, the fuchsia has become the pride of the shade garden, the number one subject for hanging baskets and a recognized color in fashion.

Your nurseryman keeps them in a variety of sizes during the planting season, March to August.

JUST NOW HE has them available in bands and pots. Later, these smaller plants will be shifted to one-gallon containers.

There is a very wide choice of colors and flower forms, as well as a choice of upright and trailing habit of growth. Every plant is labeled with variety name and a description of the flower color and growth habit in a sort of horticultural shorthand.

When the label reads Gypsy Queen UP Dble. C. rose-mauve, S. deep red, it means that this variety is an upright grower with double flowers, the corolla (or petals) rose-mauve and the sepals deep red.

On the other hand, Aurora Superba TR Sgle. C. orange, S. apricot will mean this variety is a trailing plant (for baskets) with single flowers — the single row of orange petals enclosed with apricot sepals.

GENERALLY, plants in bands are not shifted directly to the garden. They are planted in six-inch or larger pots or set two or three of a variety in a 12-inch, or larger hanging basket.

Your nurseryman has a planting mix available for fuchsias or you can make your own: About one-quarter proportions of soil, peat moss, humus or leaf mold and sand.

A CHECKLIST FOR GARDENERS OF MARIN

Here is the Marin gardener's checklist for the coming week:

- Plant chrysanthemums in pots or in the ground for late summer and fall bloom.
- Pinch the new growth of fuchsias to encourage side branching and more new growth to carry flowers.
- Feed lawns this month and plan on feeding them once a month through summer. Frequent light feedings are better than infrequent heavy meals.
- Plant hydrangeas now for summer bloom. Give them a rich soil and water them frequently.
- Clematis may be planted now. These are among the most colorful of our summer-flowering vines.
- Keep a watchful eye out for snails. This is the time of year when they are most active, so keep a supply of bait on hand.
- If you are concerned about food prices, consider vegetable planting. Look into some of the new varieties of tomatoes that have been developed.
- Envious of your neighbor's tulips? Vow now that you will have some of these spring beauties in your own garden next year.

Make Your Entry Garden Inviting To Family, Friends

"Through this portal pass the dearest people in the world."

This imaginary sign hangs over the doorway of every home. The entrance garden is the focal point of the front landscape so make it inviting for family and friends—attractive to passersby.

The California Association of Nurserymen suggests creating a sense of seclusion and hospitality with the plants you select. A coniferous shrub, evergreens, a flowering shrub, a tree, a low fence, a planter, or a combination of these can effect a partial separation from the street — thus giving your entry a feeling in intimacy.

This is particularly advisable where the front door and windows have little privacy from the street.

No friendlier sentinel can stand guard beside the front porch than evergreen podocarpus. This hardy shrub has a lovely light green foliage in an irregular "different" looking elongated leaf form. A graceful, columnar shape, it withstands sun or shade.

Small trees, strategically situated, act as partial screens. A few trees which are ideally suited for this are: Dogwoods, Flowering Cherries, Silktrees for sun; and Japanese Maples for shade.

New From U.C.: An Olive Tree Without Olives

University of California horticulturists have developed an oliveless olive tree as a potentially important new ornamental mutant.

If the mutant proves stable and resistant to diseases, it will be released to commercial nurseries next year.

Home gardeners and landscape architects have long complained about the black fruits olive tree drops in winter and the birds they attract.

The oliveless marvel was propagated from a fruitless tree found growing in Australia. A branch was brought back and grafted on American rootstocks.

Yes, You Can Upholster That Sofa

Handyman's Page

There are some home projects that are better left undone—by you, that is.

For many years, one of these was the upholstering of a sofa. Only a professional could be expected to produce a good result.

Today, there is at least an even chance that you can do it yourself.

BEFORE YOU begin tearing your present sofa apart, you should know (1) that some previous upholstering experience (with a chair, for instance) is helpful and (2) that some sofas aren't worth rehabilitating.

The frame should, of course, be in good condition. So should the springs — and they are the key to whether you should tackle the job yourself. If they are definitely in need of replacement, which you can determine after removing the padding material, better think twice.

A complete novice may find he's in over his head. But if you decide to replace the springs, consider purchasing the sagless type, which are somewhat easier to install. An upholstery dealer can advise you in this respect, so be prepared to furnish him with all details about the sofa: measurements, shape, etc.

REPLACING THE padding with rubber cushioning is the part of the job you definitely can tackle, especially if you use a single, large cushion.

What is called pincore foam, four or five inches thick, is recommended. Cut out a pattern of the proper size, adding one extra inch around the outline and having it cut where you purchase the foam rubber.

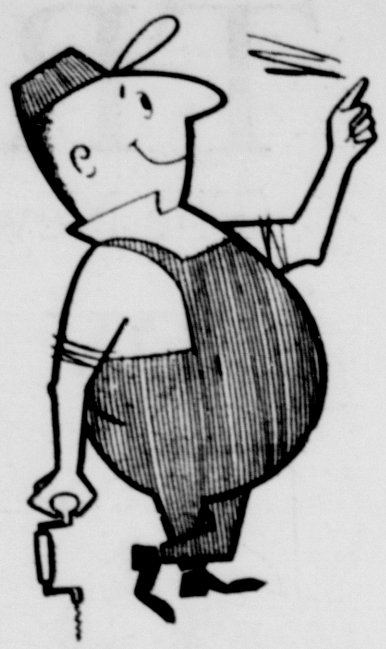
Cement tacking tape or muslin around the entire edge of the foam and, after allowing an hour or so for drying, tack the muslin securely to the frame.

PURCHASE the proper adhesive from the dealer where you bought the foam rubber. It's actually the same kind of rubber fabricating cement found in many offices.

A thin piece of slab foam is used to cover the arms. This is put in place by cementing muslin to the foam and then tacking the muslin to the arm, using upholstery nails or staples applied with a stapling machine.

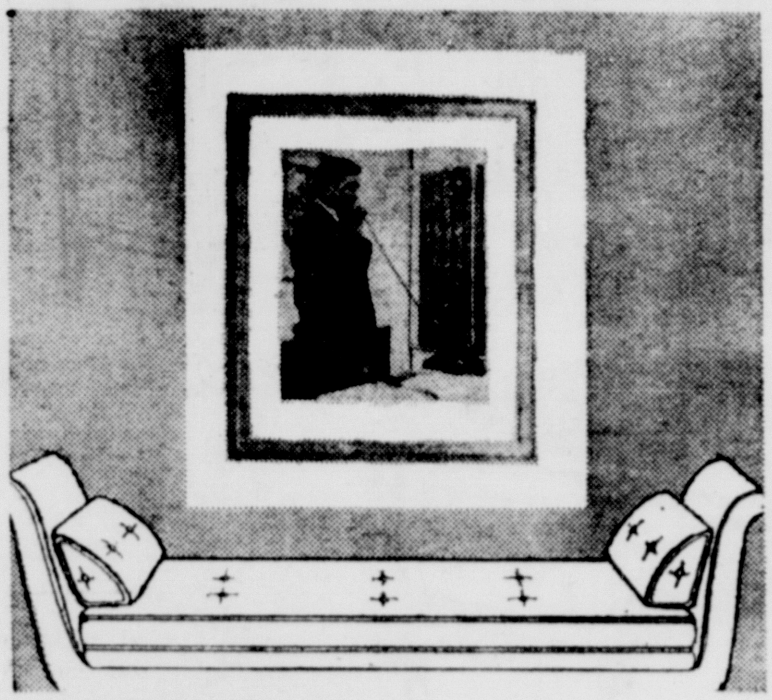
The sofa covering should be cut and sewn to size beforehand. If you have removed the old cover with care, it can be used as a pattern for the new one.

Use upholstery tape, glued in place, to give the entire job a professional look as well as to cover rough spots.



BRIGHT IDEAS

Portrait On The Wall



TOO LONG have our family photographic portraits been relegated to small sizes, traditionally framed in narrow, silver, easel-frames, hidden on bureaus or on remote occasional tables in the living room or library. We use our walls as showcases for paintings or prints, but no one ever thinks to blow up Dad (who you don't see much of anyway) or Mom or Mary Jane. It is easy to do. Maybe Dad isn't the suave executive pictured here, but whatever he's like, chances are that you have a portrait or good snapshot of him. Have it blown up at your photographic store (the one shown here is 16 inches wide and 20 inches deep). Take it to a picture framer, select a super-elegant frame, have him cut a wide mat, cover it with glass and frame it. Choose a frame and color which you think is in character with the subject and the room in which it will hang. You and your family will appreciate it more and more as years go by.

exciting concepts from Orinda pools

One reason more people are buying ORINDA pools this year is because ORINDA pools cost less to buy. Your ORINDA custom pool representative, in fact, can show you on paper that, not only is the base price lower in most cases, but when you add the options you want, the price advantage of an ORINDA pool becomes even greater.

And because it is an ORINDA pool, you get all the advantages of an ORINDA pool. The uncommon luxury of design and engineering by Orinda, and styling leadership that has made ORINDA Pools the best selling in northern California.

All of which is still just the beginning. *A giant Laars boiler is included with the 1967 Orinda Custom Royal Series providing low cost heating year long. You also have the traditionally conservative value of an ORINDA pool to enjoy. On top of all the other advantages.

Look to the ORINDA organization's mark of excellence.

MATURE AND VITAL

Barbara Stanwyck Enjoys Role As Matriarch Of Barkley Clan

By CYNTHIA LOWRY

NEW YORK (AP) — Barbara Stanwyck, moving happily toward her third season of playing what she calls the "blood and guts" matriarch of "The Big Valley," mourns that "they just don't write strong women's parts in movies or television these days."

"Both have been men's industries for the past 12 years or so," says Miss Stanwyck. "It just isn't like the great days when they had strong men stars and strong women stars — William Powell and Myrna Loy, Clark Gable and Joan Crawford, Gary Cooper and Greta Garbo."

None of them, she continued, were kids.

"THE WHEEL turns," the actress continued philosophically, "so we'll probably get back to that. But meanwhile I like to work — I'd like to make movies but no one asks me. But I'm lucky because I have an interesting character to play in television."

Miss Stanwyck, slim as a 20-year-old and frankly 60, shrugged expressively.

"Obviously I can't play ingenues — and any kind of a love story is out since there is a Hollywood tradition that romance is for the young."

SHE PAUSED and grinned: "Unless, of course, I made one of those art films with a 20-year-old leading man."

Miss Stanwyck said that over the seasons she had read many scripts and outlines and turned down a lot of projects.

BARBARA STANWYCK
No time for dyeing

"I just didn't want to play the part of a darling old lady with a lavender blanket over my knees. Who needs that?" she said. "To tell the truth, I think I'm a frustrated stuntwoman. Anyway these other things seemed ridiculous. And by the grace of God and a good business manager, I was able to borrow a line from somebody else and say that I was too old and too rich to bother with them."

SHE LIKES playing Victoria Barkley in "The Big Valley" partly because she can play a vital, frankly mature woman who is almost as active as her children. But mostly, one suspects, it's because she enjoys the discipline of the profession that has kept her busy since she got into show business at 15 as a chorus girl in a Manhattan cabaret.

Miss Stanwyck was in her native New York briefly, during the show's vacation period, to see some new shows and old friends. In the dining room of one of the city's oldest and grandest hotels—where celebrities rate scarcely a turn of the head — she was interrupted several times during luncheon by requests for autographs.

She is one of the few actresses who has accepted the years without a struggle, and certainly one of the few whose silver hair is not disguised.

"YOU CAN'T turn off the years," she said. "And I'm not sure you'd want to. I never wanted to get mixed up with coloring my hair — it does something to a woman.

"For one thing, I started to get gray in the back of my head, and I couldn't see it so it didn't bother me. Then when I turned white in front, I discovered dyeing it meant devoting about six hours at a clip to the hairdressers — and there just isn't that kind of time in my life."

SHIRLEY BOOTH plays a good-natured Beverly Hills landlady and Robert Ryan is the man in her life in "About Mrs. Leslie" on "The Thursday Night Movies" at 9 o'clock on Channels 5 and 10.
